Schuman Picked French Premier

PARIS, Nov. 22 (AP)—Robert Schuman became premier of France tonight. The National Assembly gave the former finance minister, a member of the Moderate Popular Republican Movement, the vote of confidence he asked in order to form a government to "defend the republic." The vote was 412 in favor, with only the 184 votes of the Communists and their sympathizers in opposition. Supporters of Gen. Charles De Gaulle either voted in favor of Schuman or abstained. In all, 28 deputies abstained or were absent from the chamber.

Last night the Assembly refused a vote of confidence in Leon Blum. The Socialist leader got 300 votes, failing by nine to obtain the majority necessary to give him authority to form a government succeeding that headed by Paul Ramadier, resigned.

Before the Assembly voted, Schuman called upon the 750,000 French workers idle in Communist-led strikes throughout the nation to return to their jobs.

CITES STRIKE PERIL

"The strike is a legal but dangerous weapon," he told the Assembly. "It must not be employed indiscriminately for political ends."

Communist Secretary Jacques Duclos replied that "the policy of Schuman is a continuation of the policy of Ramadier—that is, collaboration with American imperialism. We will never accept this submission."

Schuman said the situation in France today is serious, and asked permission to try to save the republic by ending "political exploitation and misery."

Sources close to Schuman said he hoped to form his cabinet tonight, and end the nation's three-day political crisis as rapidly as possible.

As the assembly voted, truckloads of Mobile Guards, ready for any emergency, moved into the capital.

WARNS OF RED PLOT

As the tide of Communist-engineered labor difficulties continued unchecked, the Socialist newspaper Le Populaire said that "in application of orders received in Warsaw, and carrying out an orchestrated plan from Belgrade, the Communist party is preparing to pass to direct action."

This, briefly, is the labor situation in the trouble-born country:

MARTIME WORKERS: A longshoremen's general strike was called for Monday, but the walkout may be general before then, with all Mediterranean ports and the Atlantic port of Bordeaux already tied up.

RAILWAYMEN: The Rhone Valley and the Riviera were tied up as far as Avignon and the Italian frontier respectively by a strike that spread from Marseille.

METAL AND MACHINERY: About 300,000 workers are on strike in the Paris region.

COAL MINERS: The strike spread from the Nord and Pas de Calais coal fields to central France. About 125,000 workers were idle.

BUILDING AND WOODWORKERS: A strike of 100,000 workers in the Paris region was called for today.

SECONDARY SCHOOLS: Teachers and principals went on strike in Paris and the Seine Dept.

Police Seize 99 in Westport Sledge Hammer Gaming Raid

Forcing an entrance with sledge hammers through six heavily barricaded doors, 25 State troopers early today raided the swank Watuppa Club in Lake Shore rd., Westport, seized $1000 in bills, dice, chairs, tables and gaming equipment, and arrested 99 persons on gaming and other charges, many of them women.

The 2 a. m. raid was led by Lt. Francis J. O'Connell and Sgt. James P. Ryan. State Police officials said the raid followed reports the club was operating weekends on a 24-hour basis. The raiding officers reported they found many patrons drinking at the bar and the others in a room where a dice game was in progress.

Those arrested were arraigned in Second District Court, Fall River, before Judge Benjamin Cook. Twenty-nine were charged with gaming. They pleaded guilty and were fined $5 each. Fifty-five others, charged with being present where gaming implements were found, pleaded not guilty and their cases were filed without record.

Nine men were charged with maintaining a gaming nuisance and six other charter members of the club face similar charges. The nine arraigned today pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued to Dec. 5 for hearing.

The defendants charged with maintaining a nuisance were George Z. Richards, 48, of Sanford rd., Westport, and eight Fall River residents, James T. Cahill, 35, of Raymond st., Norman Chouinard, 38, of Harrison st., Ernest K. George, 37, of Harrison st., Isadore Belovitch, 36, and Peter Belovitch, 41, both of Rodman st., Louis B. Eisenhower Lifts Lid On Secret Records

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower issued written orders to the Army today to take the "secret" label off its historical records which do not involve national security.

The directive "will be interpreted in the most liberal sense with no reservations as to whether or not the evidence of history places the Army in a favorable light," he said.

Brockton 5-Month Bride Killed by Auto

BROCKTON, Nov. 22—Struck by an auto while walking near her home with her husband, Mrs. Mary Janovich Shapman, 48 Oak st., died of injuries early today en route to Brockton Hospital.

The fatal accident occurred in North Pearl st., near the Brockton-Stoughton line, where she was hit by a car driven by Arthur Silvia, 23, Walnut st., Stoughton, according to police. Stephen Shapman, the husband, said he and his wife had left a Stoughton-Brockton bus just before the accident.

Silvia told police he did not see anybody in his path and the first he knew of the accident was when he heard the sound of something being hit. He stopped his car within 50 feet, he said, and found Mrs. Shapman in the road.

He was joined there by Elmore Comstock, Wheeler ave., Brockton, another motorist, who came to Silvia's aid in an attempt to help Mrs. Shapman.

Police, called by Silvia, found in the dead woman's handbag bank books listing deposits totaling $17,000.

Quebec Girl Fined $1, Held After Raid

An 18-year-old Quebec girl who came to Lynn for a vacation last summer and lingered overlong, according to police, was arrested in a Newhall st. apartment with a 34-year-old Swampscott man early today on morals charges.

The girl, who identified herself as Joan Allison Biggs of Verdun, P. Q., also found herself in difficulty with immigration officials, who issued a warrant charging her with being in the United States illegally.

She came here from Canada last Aug. 27 as a visitor, but remained and accepted employment, contrary to immigration regulations.

Under department procedure, she will be given a hearing to show why she should not be deported back to Canada.

BAIL SET AT $2500

Immigration authorities were in Lynn District Court today when she was arraigned with her companion, Frank Ziccardi, 34, of Pine st., Swampscott. At their request, Judge Ralph W. Reeve set bail of $2500 on an idle and disorderly charge in order to hold her pending the hearing.

On the morals charge he fined her $1 and assessed Ziccardi $25 on the same charge.

Police also announced they were seeking an East Lynn man, reported to have prevailed on the girl to come to Lynn last summer. Later, they said, she met Ziccardi.

Police attention was directed to her by a letter to Chief John F. Healy from her mother, who said her daughter had gone to Lynn for a summer vacation and had refused to return home.

The raid was conducted shortly after midnight by Patrolmen Michael Gilroy and Earl Donovan of the vice squad, accompanied by Mrs. Anne McDermott, a policewoman. They said the girl was clad in silk pajamas and Ziccardi partially clothed when they entered the apartment.

Arnold Rips Meyers, U.S. Jury to Get Case

By CHARLES B. SEIB

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (INS)—A Washington grand jury will begin hearing evidence against Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers early next week looking toward indictments on charges of perjury and war fraud. This was announced today by the Department of Justice. The announcement said that Atty. Gen. Tom Clark has asked U. S. Atty. George M. Fay of Washington to set a time as early as possible for a District of Columbia grand jury to hear evidence against Meyers.

GEN. H. H. (HAP) ARNOLD
Says Meyers "Disgraced Uniform"
Associated Press Wirephoto

This development came just a few hours after the Senate war investigating committee announced that the record of its hearing on Meyers will be submitted to the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Bureau.

A Justice Department spokesman said that the charges of income tax evasion against Meyers, on which Clark also has promised prosecution, may not be brought before the Washington grand jury.

It was explained that any investigation of the income tax returns must be made in the district where they were filed and the revenue bureau has not disclosed where Meyers' returns were filed.

Asst. Atty-Gen. Vincent Quinn, chief of the criminal division, will present the war fraud and "any other criminal charges" that may be brought. Fay will handle the perjury angle.

This development came after Gen. H. H. Arnold, wartime chief of the Army Air Forces, denounced Meyers as a liar, a "rotten apple in the barrel," and, on the evidence, a "disgrace to his uniform and his rank."

Chairman Ferguson (R.) of Michigan recessed the hearing after Arnold's smashing excoriation of the man who once held the No. 2 job in the Air Forces wartime procurement setup.

Ferguson promised that no "curtain of secrecy" will be drawn over other possible irregularities in the procurement program.

Ferguson said the "whole record"—including Meyers' "kiss-and-tell" defense impugning the honor of Mrs. Bleriot Lamarre, the woman he called his "girl friend," is being referred to the Attorney General and the Internal Revenue Bureau to "take such steps as necessary."

Ferguson pointed out that the committee could not prosecute but could "merely investigate."

In bitter reference to Meyers' story, he added:

"No court, committee or nation can survive if perjury is the common thing in hearings.

"It is to be regretted that there are not more actions for perjury and that witnesses can make willfully false statements without fear of reprisal."

The chairman emphasized that the recess closes only the "Meyers" phase of the investigation into wartime procurement methods.

Ferguson said closed hearings soon will be resumed to cover other phases of the sweeping investigation.

The Senator added that Sen. Tobey (R.) of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate banking committee, will take up from a legislative point of view the ques-

Triplets Quit Hospital, Join Family Group in New Home

Never did an emergency landing spot for his transport plane in wartime look as welcome to a former pilot as did the dwelling at 48 Perkins st., Malden, look today to young Eddie Connelly. During the recent war, Connelly made many a hasty landing while ferrying passengers and freight in the European theater, but that was just a military chore.

This time, Eddie discovered he had taken over the stork's job in mid-air and he had newly born triplets as well as a wife and another child—with no place to land.

SENSATIONAL SPURT

What started out as a typical little postwar family took a sensational spurt when the couple and their son, Edward, 2, were joined by triplets at Cahill House, Cambridge, last Sept. 29.

Necomers Mary, Peter and Tom together weighed 11 pounds and seven ounces, less than Eddie's discarded uniforms and medals, and doctors suggested the triplets stay at the hospital until they picked up a little brawn.

That was more than OK with the worried father, who was circling frantically around Greater Boston with Mrs. Connelly in search of a house on his time off from the insurance business.

HAPPY LANDING

The triplets kept getting bigger and their father kept getting nowhere in his house hunting. But, when their combined weight reached 22 pounds and eight ounces, Eddie spotted the Perkins st. dwelling through the overcast and came in for a nice landing.

Nurses and doctors were on hand to wish the young couple good luck as they set out from Cahill House with the triplets in their arms and son Edward in tow.

2 Cars Derailed At Newbury

NEWBURY, Nov. 22—The first two cars of a Boston & Maine train from Portsmouth, N. H., to Boston were derailed today when a safety strap dropped away from the undercarriage of the first car and a brake beam fell in front of the wheels.

More than 50 passengers were shaken up but no injuries were reported. The derailment occurred at Floyd's Lane Crossing at 7:01 a. m.

The derailed cars, which did not overturn, plowed up 175 yards of roadbed and splintered a railroad wire pole. The engineer, F. S. Johnson, Portsmouth, N. H., said the train was traveling at the approved speed of 50 miles an hour.

Passengers were returned to Newburyport and resumed their trip on the next train an hour later.

Gen. Clay Replies To Red Marshal's Attack on Allies

BERLIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—On the eve of the Big Four meeting, Soviet Russia's chief officer in Germany has denounced the western allies' occupation methods and his American counterpart has replied that the record speaks for itself.

Soviet Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, at a meeting of the Allied Control Council yesterday, accused the western Allies of violating the Potsdam and Yalta agreements and other accords on denazification, demilitarization and reparations.

In a two-hour address he criticized almost every phase of the occupation undertaken by the United States, Britain and France.

Today Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chief of the American military government, told reporters:

"I am not going to increase the already strained relations on the eve of the council of foreign ministers, by engaging in recriminations. I am not going to defend the United States military government's actions. I prefer to let the record speak for itself."

Asked by reporters if the accusations by Sokolovsky constituted "wilful" misrepresentation, Clay replied:

"I can only say that no request was made for any explanation of the facts."

The foreign ministers meet Tuesday in London to discuss a German peace.

Clay said actions in the U. S. and British zones of Germany were open for all to see but repeated efforts to obtain information from the Soviet zone had failed.

On the Russian charge that the United States had failed to disarm Germany, Clay said all war plants in the zone had been or were being dismantled. He denied other points in the Russian charges, in response to specific questions, and said of the Soviet allegations that the United States was promoting propaganda for a new war.

"As far as expressing our views on Communism is concerned, for many months we avoided at all costs attacks on other powers, but the repeated attacks on our own political system convinced us we could not continue in this policy."

Sokolovsky charged, among other things, that the British and Americans were attempting to transform their zones into "strongpoints to support the Anglo-American campaign of imperialism in the center of Europe."

Sokolovsky declared the British and American authorities hoped through the Marshall plan to place the economy of western Germany under the control of British-American monopolies and to "use these as bases to exercise pressure on the European states which do not want to be tied down by American and British monopolies."

Marshall Sokolovsky said "The Soviet military administration of Germany has to make this statement in order that the actual situation in Germany will be known to the coming meeting of the foreign ministers."

Stricken Bride Weds in Nightie

CRANSTON, R. I., Nov. 22 (AP)—Gertrude Reta McCrea was married at 9 a. m. today, but instead of the shimmering wedding gown she had planned to wear, she was attired in a nightgown and a blue bed jacket.

Wedding plans had been made when the bride became ill yesterday. Her doctor said she ought to go to the hospital immediately for an appendectomy. She decided to go through with the ceremony first.

So Miss McCrea became Mrs. George Gerard Sanville of Central Falls while she lay painfully ill in bed at her home. Rev. Joseph D. Shanley performed the ceremony. One of the guests was Dr. Alphonse R. Cardi, keeping a professional eye on the patient.

GI Who Paid Reich Widow's Fare Jilted

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP)—A pretty, blonde German widow, whose air passage to the United States was paid by one ex-soldier sweetheart today flew into the arms of another, who won her heart while helping her write letters to her frist suitor.

As Mrs. Mariele Strauss, 28, was being warmly kissed by Fred Lutz, 39, a Chicago bakery operator, her 8-year-old daughter, Helga, danced excitedly along side them.

The gay, early morning greeting at the Municipal Airport meant only bad news to Charles Schumaker, 40, of Strong City, Kan., who had expected to participate in a similar scene himself in Kansas City, where he commented that he did not know Lutz, but, he added, he would "like to meet him face to face when this is all over."

Before the young widow and child got off the plane Lutz said:

"I know she'll stay here with me, because I talked with her by phone while she was in New York yesterday."

Mrs. Strauss would say nothing about their plans.

Schumaker, a railroader, met, wed and became engaged to Ms. Strauss, the widow of a German officer, while he was on occupation duty in Bavaria. He paid the $700 passage for her and Helga.

"He'll get his $700 back," Lutz said with a firm nod of the head. "I won't owe money to anybody."

Lutz said that he and Mrs. Strauss were childhood friends in Bad Tolz, Germany, and he met her again as a GI.

As to the Kansas railroader's predicament, Lutz said: "I think we can straighten that out."

Mrs. Strauss said she did not attempt to have entry papers to the United States signed by Schumaker changed because she was afraid it would delay her trip.

Immigration authorities granted her the right to make her permanent residence here.

Marshall Cites Peace Blocks At Oxford

OXFORD, Eng., Nov. 22 (AP)—Sec. Marshall declared today agreement among the big powers during the war, when their existence was threatened, seemed easier than at present, "when the facts of the hazards are not quite so clear."

Marshall spoke at Oxford University ceremonies in which he received an honorary degree, Doctor of Civil Law. The degree was conferred by Lord Halifax, chancellor of the university.

The Secretary is in England for the foreign ministers' conference opening Tuesday, and is reported determined to press for completion of an Australian independence treaty.

Among those in the colorfully robed Oxford audience were Prime Minister Attlee and Anthony Eden, foreign minister in Britain's wartime government.

Marshall participated in the ceremony wearing the scarlet robe of a Doctor of Civil Laws.

The degree was conferred in recognition of his services to the Allied cause as American Army chief of staff. Halifax called him "great architect of military strength and of victory, outstanding in devoted service, both to your own country and to the world."

Fireman Thrown Boarding Truck

Martin Manning, Manning st., West Roxbury, a 29-year-old Boston fireman attached to Engine 3, Harrison ave., in haste to board his fire truck in answer to a call early today, lost his hold and crashed to the roadway as the engine careened out of the fire house.

Manning was picked up by fellow firemen from the station and taken to City Hospital, where he was treated for lacerations, abrasions and a possible fractured elbow.

The fire, which occurred in a shop on the first floor of a four-story brick apartment house in Washington st., caused damage estimated at $1200.

The six families occupying the building fled to the street when heavy smoke swept through the building, but were allowed to return later. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Sen. Davis' Body To Lie in State

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (INS)—The body of former Sen. James J. Davis, who served as Secretary of Labor under three Presidents, will be sent to Pittsburgh, where it will lie in state throughout Monday.

Davis, known as "Puddler Jim," died early today at the Washington Sanitarium in nearby Takoma Park, Md., after a long illness of uremia. He was 74.

Members of the family said the body will rest Monday at Beinhauer's Funeral Chapel in Pittsburgh and public funeral services will be held sometime during the day. The hour will be announced tomorrow.

Private services are to be held Tuesday for the family and close friends.

Davis had been at the sanitarium since Sept. 11.

Truck Plunges in Pond, Driver Frees Self

WORCESTER, Nov. 22 (AP)—Henry S. Townley of Rensselaer, N. Y., a truck driver, narrowly escaped drowning today when his trailer-truck plunged into Eddy Pond from the Southwest cutoff, Auburn.

While the cab slowly submerged, Townley managed to open a door and crawl to the roof and make his way to shore 10-feet away. He lost control of his vehicle when a wheel of his trailer came off.

Fall River Scandal Widens As 'Hot' Evidence Is Found

Asserting startling evidence in connection with the Fall River municipal graft scandal had been unearthed within the past few days, Asst. Atty. Gen. George Fingold today predicted arrest of several more city officials before another special session of Bristol County grand jury is summoned.

Unwilling to elaborate on the new development in the state and county probe, or disclose details of the evidence or the persons involved, Fingold stated:

"You can say the indictments we already have obtained are peanuts compared to what we have uncovered in the past few days."

In answer to questions, he admitted some of those involved were elected city officials and some appointed.

"There may be arrests before the grand jury gets the next phase of the inquiry," he said. "This is hot. It is far more serious than anything the probe has previously brought to light. We are still accumulating the evidence."

Fingold and State Detectives Gerald McCarthy and Andrew Trodden have been engaged for several days on a secret phase of the investigation, with one whole day spent in Boston, where several unidentified persons were questioned.

It was indicated that should the surprise arrests hinted at by Fingold be made, the grand jury will be recalled. On being released last week after indicting two Fall River city councilmen and one department head, the jurors were warned by Judge Joseph L. Hurley they were subject to recall.

With the announcement of new developments in the probe, the possibility of arrests and an additional grand jury session, Dist. Atty. J. Edward Lajoie saw little chance of cases reaching the trial stage at the November session of Superior Court.

Silent Thanksgiving Guest Meets Favor

New England, traditional home of the Thanksgiving feast for the blessings of the harvest, lined up solidly today behind the idea of feeding a "silent guest" at the family dinner table next Thursday.

Meanwhile, the proposal as first advanced by Gov. Bradford in a colorful ceremony at Plymouth, was spreading beyond New England and gave promise of capturing the imagination and generosity of the nation.

The plan calls for a family, in effect, to feed a hungry European a full course dinner by estimating the cost of one more guest at the holiday dinner and sending this amount to a fund being collected to feed hunger victims abroad.

DONATIONS POUR IN

At Plymouth, scene of the nation's first Thanksgiving, contributions were pouring in to William Brewster, treasurer of the American Silent Guest Fund, Inc., and Edward Belcher, president of the Plymouth National Bank.

All letters containing donations are remaining unopened for the present until Gov. Bradford and Brewster can arrange for the printing of acknowledgments to be sent to the donors.

The Thanksgiving spirit was also reflected in the appeals of Catholic and Protestant churchmen for Americans to share their material bounty with the less fortunate abroad.

ABP. ASKS 25 MILLION LBS.

In Boston Abp. Cushing will open a canned food collection campaign tomorrow in every parish of the archdiocese, continuing through Nov. 30, as part of a move by the National Catholic Welfare Conference to gather at least 25,000,000 pounds of foodstuffs in the nation's 15,000 Catholic parishes.

Central receiving stations will be set up in every parish here and it is expected the results will surpass those of a year ago, when the Boston archdiocese collected 813,337 cans of food. The appeal is for all types of food, especially milk, cocoa, fruits, vegetables, dried beans, corn meal and flour.

In New York a spokesman for the Protestant and Orthodox churches in America called upon "all men of good-will" to share their Thanksgiving with the needy overseas.

New Torpedoes Sink 4 U-Boats

GROTON, Ct., Nov. 22 (AP)—U. S. submarines, firing a "new type" of torpedoes, sent four former German U-boats to the bottom of the Atlantic this week, the Navy submarine base here announced today.

Authorities said they were not at liberty to disclose details.

The sinkings occurred yesterday and Thursday in deep water "roughly 40 miles northeast of Provincetown, Mass." The former German U-boats, part of the fleet divided among the Allies after World War II, were described as three small and one "medium sized."

Five of the new torpedoes were fired, one each by the Flying Fish, Toro and Sirago, and two by the Greenfish. Capt. R. H. Rice, commander of Submarine Squadron 2, directed operations.

LONDON, Nov. 22 (INS)—Winston Churchill called on Britons today to strike a blow for freedom by ousting the "timid, half-baked Socialism" of the British Labor Party.

Nab Schoolboy At Gunpoint In Store Break

Captured at gunpoint by six policemen in a Corinth st., Roslindale sq., hardware store early today, Robert Wright, 17-year-old English High School senior, of Bradfield ave., Roslindale, said today he broke into the store because he wanted a pair of football shoes.

Patrolman David Gearty spotted him in the store shortly after midnight. When the officer flashed a light, the youth grabbed a rifle from a counter. Gearty doused his flashlight, went to a police box and summoned assistance.

Police surrounded the store until Samuel Newstadt, of Tennis rd., Mattapan, the owner, arrived with a key. Then the officers entered with drawn guns. The youth surrendered.

Investigation disclosed the gun was not loaded. In the police lineup, young Wright, who has no police record and a good reputation, told police he doesn't know why he grabbed for the rifle when he was surprised by the policeman. He said:

"I wanted a pair of football cleats. My family wouldn't buy them. I decided to steal a pair. I climbed up the water spout of the one-story building. I kicked in the skylight then threw my coat over the jagged edges and dropped down. I looked for my size shoes. I found a pair and was trying them on when the light flashed on me."

Booked on charges of nighttime breaking and entering and larceny of a rifle valued at $39.95, Wright faces arraignment in West Roxbury court Monday.

$50,000 Bail Holds Bellino in Robbery

Joseph "Happy Joe" Bellino, 38, of Newark, N. J., was ordered held in $50,000 today in West Roxbury district court for hearing Dec. 2 on a charge of armed robbery in the $110,000 Sturtevant Blower plant payroll holdup last Oct. 30.

Judge Daniel W. Casey continued the case at the request of Lt. James V. Crowley of the Boston police after Bellino had asked for an immediate hearing on the charge.

The case of Anthony Pino, 39, formerly of Dorchester, on the same charge was also continued to Dec. 2 with bail set at the same figure.

Vincent Costa, 32, brother-in-law of Pino, is at liberty in $20,000 bail as a material witness in the case.

Query Youth In Pistol Sale, Death of Girl

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 22—Chief Inspector John Webster said today that a young man whose alleged sale of a .45-caliber pistol set the stage for the tragic death of a young girl here would be questioned today by police.

Victim was Lorraine Soucy, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Soucy of Pine st., who was fatally wounded by a bullet that pierced her heart as she was standing with a group of youngsters looking at the gun.

An 18-year-old local boy was handling the gun when it went off, and he told police he had purchased it the previous day from a young man but was not aware that it was loaded, Webster said.

It was in this boy's house that the other boys and girls were gathered around to watch him demonstrate the workings of his new gun, and the single explosion sent a slug into the girl's body at close range, police stated.

Sub-Zero Weather Moving Eastward

By the Associated Press

The coldest weather in the nation this season swept over the Eastern Rockies and the plains states today and the mercury plunged to 17 below at Casper, Wyo.

There were sub-zero marks in parts of Nebraska, the Dakotas and in Kansas as the mass of cool air moved southward and eastward. Colder weather was forecast for the entire midwest area today and tonight, and lower temperatures were predicted eastward in the New England states.

The coldest spots on the early morning weather map included Scottsbluff, Nebr.,—12; Sidney, Nebr.;—8; Chadron, Nebr.,—6; Garden City, Kans.,—4; Rapid City, S. D.,—4, and Jamestown, N. D.,—3.

There was snow in parts of Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri and rain fell from Lake Michigan southward through most of the Mississippi Valley.

SENATE NEW LOOK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Senate's pages are going to have a new look.

Traditionally dressed in blue serge knickerbockers, with ribbed black hose, the pages are going to don dark suits with long trousers in the future.

Senator Millikin (R.) of Colorado said it had become impossible for the pages to get knickerbockers any longer. He added that the age limit for the youngsters who run Senators' errands is being raised from the present 12-to-16-year bracket to 14 to 17.

Blast Report Yanks Held in China Wilds

NANKING, Nov. 22 (AP)—A 15-month search during which American officers lived with primitive Lolo tribesmen in the mud huts of wild west China has proved conclusively no American airmen are captives there, the Army announced today.

An Army Graves Registration spokesman said the long search ended after special teams completed the tracing of every report and rumor. More than a year ago, one American officer returned from a remote tribal village to report "we feel there are five Americans in Lolo country," but Maj. Alva Smith, commanding a search team, said today:

"Our work positively established that no Americans are held captive."

DISGUISED AS PRIESTS

Maj. Smith of Savannah, Ga.; Capt. Edward McCallister, Alleghany, Va., and Sgt. John Fox, Tacoma, Wash., lived with the little known Lolos of the wildly rugged China-Tibet border region during the search.

McCallister and Fox disguised themselves as priests to gain the confidence of the mountain tribesmen. They found slavery a general practice, with Chinese seized in raids on lowland villages held to work while their masters fought with neighboring tribes.

McCallister told a news conference that the Lolos, instead of being wild, semi-savage people as described earlier, were kind and co-operative once their trust was obtained.

Early expeditions, a year ago, found the remains of four wartime airmen who had died in plane crashes. Associated Press Photographer Julian Wilson, of Louisville, accompanied one such expedition amid the 18,000-foot peaks that made every step a terrific exertion.

"The higher you go, the less you can walk," he said. "The next rock a few yards ahead looks like a day's journey away. My eyes felt as though they were going to jump out, my heart pounded, my ears burned . . ." He was one of six Americans who scaled 14,000-foot Liangpoashan, in the Wulai Mountains.

"PINCHED OUR SKIN"

Some of the Lolos, Wilson reported, never had seen white men; they "carefully examined us, our clothes, our equipment and my cameras. They even pinched our skin. Satisfied, they admired us and feasted us," before open fires in windowless, stamp-mud huts.

Maj. Smith said rumors which inspired the long search resulted from discovery of parts of B-29 auxiliary gasoline tanks which had been dropped deliberately from a disabled plane; and from the fact 35 fliers and the body of a 36th were recovered from three west China plane crashes.

Bandit Squad in Drive On Out State Criminals

Underworld characters in New England communities and New York city were given a blunt warning today to stay out of Boston by the night chief of the newly-formed Boston police bandit squad.

Capt. John B. Ahern said detectives riding in radio cars throughout the city in the early morning hours "will pick up all floaters, criminals, shady characters and others without any business on the streets."

He directed his blast chiefly at New Yorkers who, he said, have been driven out of their metropolitan area by a police drive and have ambitions to come to Boston to stage holdups and burglaries.

"The Boston police are sick and tired of outsiders coming here to commit crimes and then sneak out of town again the same night," he declared.

The captain said this morning's roundup netted 16 men, of whom only four are able to provide satisfactory explanations of their movements, and these four men were turned loose.

The other 12, he said, gave such varied addresses as New York city, Keene, N. H., and Bangor, Me., and included a Brooklyn man suspected of a gun swindle outside a hotel in Charles st. less than 24 hours earlier.

He said fingerprints of these 12 men were taken at police headquarters and every one of the 12 possessed criminal records. They will appear in a lineup to be viewed by victims of recent assaults and robberies.

Turkeys High, Find Buyer Resistance

Turkeys for Thanksgiving are more plentiful than for years in the Boston market but the huge supply has failed to cause any lowering in prices.

Native turkeys are selling at 65 to 68 cents a pound, Western turkeys at 59 cents, and Northern turkeys are 49 cents a pound.

Marketmen claim they are forced to charge the high prices, despite huge supplies, because of the prices charged by turkey raisers. Producers plead the high cost of feed.

Marketmen were noting unexpected buyer resistance.

Meyers

tion of Meyers' speculation in government bonds.

Meyers admitted buying war bonds on margin to speculate on differences between interest payments made by the government and by banks.

Ferguson said that the record furnished the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Bureau will include the phases involving Howard Hughes and Sen. Brewster (R.) of Maine, as well as the Meyers matter.

WITNESSES CLEARED

Ferguson apparently cleared the chief witnesses against Meyers, Lamarre and Thomas Readnower, by stating that there was no question of subornation of perjury involved.

Ferguson said in his closing statement that he thought the revelations made by his committee should lead to "the setting up in the military establishment of an alert, vigorous investigating agency to act as an efficient watchdog over public funds."

Arnold said the committee had developed evidence of "gross misconduct" by Meyers.

The four-star general declared:

"The evidence and the rumors and innuendo that go with it reflect on the 3,000,000 men and women who served in the Air Forces, on the vital part they played in the war, and, perhaps, on the future of the Air Force as the foundation stone of national security.

"If, to our regret, we of the Air Force did not find a rotten apple in our barrel, we are grateful that others have done so."

SPEAKS AS WAR LEADER

Before reading his statement into the record Arnold told the committee he was appearing at his own request, "not to pass on the innocence or guilt of General Meyers" or to "defend" any of his own actions. Arnold asserted:

"I am here as the war leader of millions of men, some of whom are beginning to have some elements of doubt as to their leaders, as to what the Army Air Forces stood for.

"I asked the committee to permit me to appear in order to restore their confidence in their leaders and the arm of the service in which they served."

Meyers was not in the hearing room when Arnold took the stand. His attorney, J. H. Amen said the general was at the bedside of his sick child at his home in Huntington, L. I.

The wartime commander of the air force accused Meyers of lying to him in connection with a directive calling upon procurement officers to report their aviation stock holdings.

TOLD TO USE JUDGMENT

Meyers testified that he had told Arnold and Gen. George Stratemeyer that he had certain air stock holdings and that when he asked Arnold what to do about it, his superior told him:

"Damn it, Benny, use your own judgment."

Arnold asserted that Meyers was an outstanding procurement officer, and cited testimony referring to Meyers' "great energy, his capacity and willingness to work, his ability to assume responsibility in difficult situations, and his aggressiveness and drive."

Gen. Meyers Silent On Arnold Blast

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., Nov. 22 (INS) — Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers declared today that he will welcome with open arms any Justice Department or Internal Revenue investigation of his wartime financial operations as disclosed in Washington.

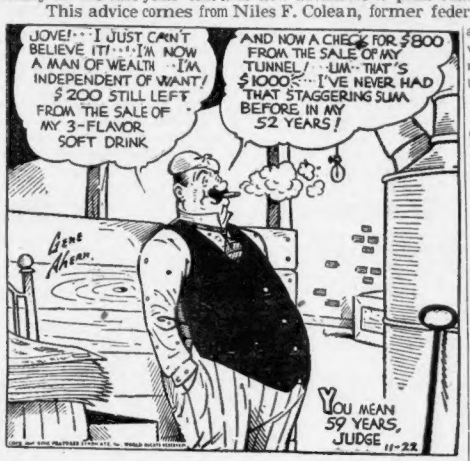
Gen. Meyers, resting at his palatial home near Huntington, refused to comment on Gen. H. H. Arnold's testimony that he was a liar, a "rotten apple in the barrel," and, on the evidence, "a disgrace to his uniform and his rank."

Can Plan to Build Own Home Now Ex-Housing Official Says

Special to the Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Conditions in the building industry have altered so materially in the last year that it is now advisable to plan building your own home.

This advice comes from Niles F. Colean, former federal housing official, who over a year ago made history by advising the American public to neither build nor buy a home in the then inflationary market.



Is the promise any better now than it was in 1945 and 1946? Mr. Colean asks in an article in the December issue of House Beautiful Magazine.

"The promise is much better—much better than it has been in any year since the war," he declares.

Although costs will probably be from 70 to 80 per cent higher than they would have been on a comparable house built in 1939 or 1940, the present high costs are compatible with the present general environment of high prices and high income payments.

Whether they are out of line with costs it is difficult to say," Colean says. "On the whole they probably are not. In recent months, moreover, building costs have been better behaved than prices generally and have shown a tendency to remain stable or to decline slightly while other prices have continued to ease upward. The relative position of building costs, therefore, has improved."

Furthermore, the improvement is likely to continue, according to Mr. Colean, who believes that no drastic decline in building costs is in clear prospect.

"Barring some major disruption elsewhere in our economic system, changes from the present cost situation are likely to be gradual," he declares. "In respect to a specific house, they probably will not be great enough to affect the result very materially so far as 1948 is concerned."

Army Notes Procedure For War Heroes' Burial

The Army today released the following statement for the guidance of relatives whose war hero dead are being returned to this country from overseas:

Officials at Distribution Center No. 1, located at Brooklyn Army Base, explained the notification procedure followed upon arrival of specific war dead in this country. Twenty-four hours prior to docking of a transport in the United States, families of all deceased aboard will be telegraphically notified by the commanding officer of the distribution center concerned.

After debarking operations have been completed and all other final arrangements made, the consignee funeral director (in the case of private burials) will be notified by the distribution center three days in advance of actual delivery of the remains, so that funeral and other arrangements may be made. In the case of final burial in a National cemetery, families will be contacted sufficiently in advance by the superintendent of the National cemetery so that appropriate joint military honors and religious services may be arranged.

Bodies of returning war dead are accompanied to their final destination in each instance by a selected military escort of the same sex, race and component of the service as the deceased he accompanies, and who is of equal or higher rank. Except at National cemeteries where final honors are provided by the Government, honor guard and final military rites, including firing squads, at private burials normally are provided by veterans or other patriotic organizations.

Speedy Foreign Aid Asked by Senators

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Senate foreign relations committee today called for "speedy action" on a measure authorizing $597,000,000 of aid for France, Italy and Austria to defeat the "twin spectres of cold and hunger accompanied by political chaos."

In a report of its findings, the committee said that:

1—Aid is essential if the three nations are to be able to purchase fuel, food and other commodities necessary for the survival of their peoples and their economies during the coming winter.

2—The amount "does not seem excessive."

3—The impact upon the domestic economy would be relatively slight.

NO CARPENTER, BUT

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—A quick-thinking, handy 9-year-old saved his big brother from possible suffocation last night when a game of hide-and-seek went too far.

Jackie Miller and his brother, Joseph, 12, were home alone at near-by McKownville. Joseph hid in a cedar chest with an automatic lock. Jackie found a brace and bit in his father's tool box and bored holes in the chest to give Joseph air. He then summoned a State policeman and a neighbor, who pried off the lid.

Joseph appeared unharmed after artificial respiration.

Smart Set — Fetes for Debs

By BETTY ALDEN

THE COLLEGE DEBS are coming home next week to a whirl of Thanksgiving parties. The dressing tables in their dorms are rimmed with bids to luncheons, teas, dinners and dances that will provide the gayest debutante week-end in years. It looks as if Thanksgiving dinner will be about the only time parents will have a chance to visit with their social butterfly daughters.

MIRIAM JO ANN WILLIAMSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller Williamson of Wellesley Hills, will be home from Finch Junior College. She is adding to the week-end festivities by having a dinner before the Debutante Assembly Wednesday, and a luncheon reunion of her Beaver Country Day classmates at her home Friday. Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Williamson are giving a reception for their daughter and some 200 family friends.

Janet Cartier

Their house guests for the holiday week-end will be Dr. and Mrs. Ray M. Bobbitt of Huntington, West Va. Pourers at the reception will be Mrs. Eugene Milburn, Mrs. Roger Eastman Hall, Mrs. C. K. Rand and Mrs. Chesterfield Delbridge.

Miriam Jo Ann, who derives her pretty name from her two grandmothers and the Jo from her grandfather, is a provisional member of the Junior League and one of the popular debs of the season. She is attending the Harvard-Yale game today and last week-end went to football parties at Dartmouth. She will make her formal debut Dec. 22 at a ball at the Hotel Somerset.

The 1947 Debutante Assembly Thanksgiving Eve at the Hotel Somerset is the first of an annual series to be given for all the debs of the season. They are to be presented by their fathers or older members of their family to the distinguished group of Boston women sponsoring the party. Each deb will receive a gold favor as a lasting memento of the occasion. Mrs. Samuel Haydock Hallowell is chairman of plans for the Assembly.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL KILLIAM (Joan Richards) are the proud parents of a son born Thursday morning at Leroy Hospital, New York. Mrs. Killiam is the daughter of Mrs. Lloyd Richards of New York. Mr. Killiam is the son of Mrs. Paul Killiam of Cambridge. He was Ivy Orator at Harvard in 1937 and member of Iroquois Club, Lampoon and Hasty Pudding. He is former special events supervisor at WOR and now proprietor of Old Knick Music Hall in New York.

MRS. FRANCIS FISKE, Mrs. Henry G. Fernald, Mrs. Charles W. Henderson Jr., and Mrs. Harrison Lyman are among the many planning to attend the joint concert by the Harvard Band and Radcliffe Choral Society at Symphony Hall Dec. 5. Proceeds of the affair, called "Drumbeats and Song," will go to the Radcliffe 70th anniversary fund.

Additional subscribers are Miss Joan E. McGowan, Mrs. Malcolm Seymour, Mrs. Leonard Wright, Mrs. Wilbur K. Jordan, Mrs. Spencer B. Montgomery, Miss Elizabeth B. Nichols, Mrs. Morton Prince and Mrs. J. Irving Wright.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Janet Cartier, of West Newton, a freshman at Lasell Junior College, is cheering for Yale with Eli Z. William Colson of Boston, at the Harvard-Yale game today.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mills of West Roxbury are celebrating their golden wedding tomorrow at a reception for over 100 guests. Their daughter, Miss Phoebe Mills, will receive with them and there will be accordion solos by Phil Claff and a serenade by the West Roxbury Legion Auxiliary Glee Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Forbes Bigelow of Boston and Bolton have been spending a few days at the Barclay in New York.

ON THE EVE of the Holy Cross-B. C. game, Boston College Alumni will hold their annual dinner dance at the Copley Plaza. J. Lester Hourigan, '24, president of the association, has appointed William M. Cashin, '18, chairman of the dance, assisted by a large committee.

Noel Coward Hopes to Bring New Play Here, Says Star

By PEGGY DOYLE

Before he returns to this country about the first of the year to "tidy up" the touring revival production of his "Tonight at 8:30," Noel Coward may crystallize plans to bring his London hit, "Peace In Our Time," to this country.

Graham Payn, 29-year-old British actor who is making his American stage debut in the roles Coward created in the original production of his series of one-act plays, revealed Coward's hope to bring the play here with the original cast. The occasion was what the Western Union typewriter spelled brynch (probably to balance the "y" in Payn) at the Ritz-Carlton the other noon.

The new Coward play, which has been a terrific success in London for the past four months, supposes what might have happened if his countrymen had not won the Battle of Britain, shows the Fuehrer and his alleged master minds in residence in Buckingham Palace when, in a thrilling last-act, the English are liberated by the Americans and the Free French.

PRAISES TEAM WORK

The production represents the most beautiful team job, Payn reported, and then he proceeded to expatiate on the fine team work of the Coward-directed company at the Shubert generally and star Gertrude Lawrence's wonderful help and sportsmanship specifically.

Althought he is new to audiences in this country, he counts among his friends the Lunts, at whose fabulous farm in Genesee Junction, Wis., he visited when he first arrived here, and Katharine Cornell and her husband, Guthrie McClintic. The McClintics, whose house-guest he was at their summer place on Martha's Vineyard this summer, and he journeyed to Dennis' Cape Playhouse to see Miss Lawrence in "Lady Maria."

It was then Miss Lawrence discussed her eagerness to revive "Tonight at 8:30." Her lawyer, Fanny Holzman, the internationally celebrated counsel of the theater's greats, was strongly for it. Coward, on the contrary, was completely resistant to the idea for the longest time until, out of the blue, a cable reached Miss Lawrence from him agreeing to relight "Tonight."

Payn's present assignment, John Parker's "Who's Who in the Theater" to the contrary notwithstanding, is not his initial appearance in a Coward play. In England he appeared in "Words and Music," "Sigh No More" and "Pacific 1860," all Noel Coward works. "Pacific 1860," the actor insists, has the best score ever written.

PAINTS AS A HOBBY

It is reassuring to know that even such a celebrated authority has fluffs in his copy, we were saying, when Payn recalled that there was another inaccuracy in his "Who's Who" biography.

"My hobby is given as collecting antique furniture. I don't know a syllable about antiques—I paint for a hobby. Possibly my mother gave that as my hobby, thinking it gave me a certain man of substance quality. Does she collect antiques? Doesn't know a thing about them, either."

Those who enjoyed Payn's comic contribution to the one-acter, "Red Peppers," may be surprised to learn this is his first attempt at comedy. His vocal competence, however, is of no such sudden growth, he having been a boy soprano at the age of 12 who sang professionally in the English music halls and did some singing shorts for a film company.

The South African-born actor, when the "Tonight at 8:30" company is playing on the West Coast in another month, is certain to get some movie nibbles on account of his dark looks. At this time and distance, he indicates, nothing is more tempting than remaining in the theater with the eventual possibility of doing a light comedy with singing and dancing.

Rogers Will Fly Naval Enlistees

Charles "Buddy" Rogers, arriving at Logan Airport Monday at 9:15 a. m. in his own plane, has promised naval recruiting an assist. He has also volunteered his services in behalf of the enrollment of nurses in the Red Cross.

On Monday and Tuesday, he will take aloft in his plane, "Sleep, My Love," named for his latest picture, newly recruited naval enlistees for an air-view of the city.

Ex-Actor Directs 'Windermere's Fan'

Jack Minster's skilled staging of the Colonial Theater hit, "Lady Windermere's Fan," is the well-known English director's first directorial assignment this side of the Atlantic.

He is responsible in large measure for the revival of Victorian comedies in London, beginning in 1943 with the Robert Donat production of Oscar Wilde's "An Ideal Husband" and culminating two years ago with the outstandingly successful revival of that other Wilde play, "Lady Windermere's Fan," which played for over two years in the British capital.

The son of an actor, Minster became an actor, too, making his debut as Freddie in "Pygmalion." In 1931, he toured Canada with his own repertory company, paused briefly in the United States before returning to England. That was his only American visit until June, 1946, when he returned to direct "Lady Windermere's Fan" for New York and the current road tour.

Like many actors, Minster gravitated to directing and spent two years at Hull, England, directing a repertory company there. "An Ideal Husband" was the first London play he directed. He has since directed "Staff Dance," with Robert Morley and Beatrice Lillie, the Anna Neagle-starring "Emma" and the very successful "Perchance."

'Heaven Only Knows' Proves Fine Family Screen Fare

Stemming from a celestial error, "Heaven Only Knows," the new picture at the Center Theater, spins a fantasy that is amusingly ingenious and fairly believable by reason of the excellent direction and characterizations.

When it is discovered in Heaven that a man has been sent to earth without a soul and has become a ruthless killer, Michael, a young, unworldly angel, is dispatched to a roaring Montana mining town to help him fulfill his destiny as a great statesman.

Michael is refreshingly naive in his first encounter with earthlings but this quality and his almost clerical-seeming garb are mistaken for a disguise for the feared Kansas City Kid. Even in those pre-Purple Gang days, it seems, lawless gangsters imported killers to rub out the opposition. Michael's arrival coincided with the scheduled appearance of the Kid, hired by a rival saloonkeeper to rub out the angel's problemman.

The mistaken identity development perversely aids the innocent Michael in his program of bringing his charge and the town school teacher together, they, according to the celestial bookkeeping, having been supposed to be two years married at this time.

Robert Cummings' Michael has a modest, boyish charm that goes a long way to giving the picture its persuasive, entertaining qualities. The co-starring Brian Donlevy, as the man he assists to his Heaven-sent destiny, is thoroughly convincing in a two-way role that required genuine skill.

Newcomer Jorja Curtright's talents are self-evident in her playing of the schoolmarm. It is unfortunate that the makeup department failed her and, as well, Marjory Reynolds, who plays a dance hall queen who loves the celestial visitor in vain.

There are other good performances, too space-using to mention, and fine directing by Albert S. Rogell.

The religious angle is frankly on the fantastic side. But nonetheless "Heaven Only Knows" may be recommended to the entire family on the basis of its entertainment values, its nice humor and the good working philosophy of life it presents.

'Unconquered' Premiere At Para-Fenway Dec. 4

The widely heralded Cecil B. DeMille Technicolor spectacle, "Unconquered," will have its New England premiere at the Paramount and Fenway Theaters on Thursday, Dec. 4. Gary Cooper is co-starred with Paulette Goddard. There is a huge supporting cast of thousands.

POPULAR Vaughn Monroe and his band have a Thanksgiving Day date with the RKO Boston.

Hairpieces the Style Now

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

PIN-ON PIECES . . . interpretative of both "hair today and hair tomorrow" styles . . . are fashionable, practical . . . they're fun! Gone are the days when a hairpiece was veiled in the deepest secrecy. (Grandma, your toupee is slipping! And your poised nonchalance, too!)

It hasn't yet reached the stage where young ladies pin them on and off . . . in public! But today, many successful beauty and fashion career women, movie-actresses, and glamorous socialites . . . and we know a few . . . are ready not only to admit but to BOAST . . . that they have several hairpieces.

While we feel hairpieces come within the "fashion" classification . . . as accessories to one's own coiffure (mine is a chignon) . . . they warrant much more serious consideration than "clothes" fashions. The quality and coloring must be so perfect that they're indistinguishable from one's own hair. They must be so adroitly constructed that they may be pinned on securely, yet subtly.

CARE FOR IT YOURSELF

They must be so designed that one can care for them oneself . . . comb them, rearrange them, and regularly clean them. All of which adds up to this piece of well-meant advice: Either invest in a really fine hairpiece, and it isn't necessarily costly, or forego the whole idea. But once you get a pin-on hairpiece . . . you'll never be without one!

When you think of a fine fashion hairpiece . . . you naturally think of Joseph Fleischer, the dean of the industry, whose family has devoted four generations to the subject of human hair. The pieces created by him are made . . . must be, he says . . . from European human hair, and not Chinese.

That's because the hair texture of the pin-on piece must have a full-bodied, satiny feeling and be at the height of its vitality so that it can take a proper wave, he pointed out. Chinese hair is coarse and wiry and doesn't lend itself to the soft, lustrous hair piece.

WEAR DIFFERENT WAYS

Then too, Fleischer pieces are made only of natural-color hair . . . with the exception of some few dyed shades necessary for the blending of tones. In actual wearing, dressing and cleaning . . . the hair must have a sheen, a resiliency and a natural wave which is only found in European hair.

In the Fleischer factory . . . every single little operation is done by hand. There isn't a sewing machine in the place! His experts who blend the hair to match the customer's own hair coloring have been there over a quarter of a century. Each piece is so constructed that it can be dressed dozens of different ways . . . and will be just as applicable to tomorrow's fashions as today's.

Write to me, or phone Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, if you'd like to write to Mr. Fleischer for additional information, and we'll gladly give you his New York address.

CURLY LOCKS! If permanents are your bother . . . here's a stylish solution (shown below) in Joseph Fleischer's fashion pin-on hairpieces. Just brush your own hair smoothly back . . . and pin it on. It is specially designed so that it's easy to comb and care for . . . and worn to suit your fancy.

WHOOPS-A-DAISY! If bangs become you . . . yet are a problem to keep curled . . . you'll be thrilled with one of Joseph Fleischer's fashion hairpieces which you can pin on above your brow. And you can wear it a dozen ways.

GIBSON GIRL! For the new demure "you" . . . Joseph Fleischer has designed fashion hair braids that can be worn in many different ways . . . looped and bow-tied (as picture) . . . circled into a chignon . . . or tiara fashion above the crown. They will match your hair so exactly . . . not even your most eagle-eyed rival will be able to tell the difference.

SISSY MISSY! At left are some sweet little curl clusters which you may pin on for piquancy to accent the new Gibson Girl look. Joseph Fleischer of fashion hair fame is a custom-made pin-on hair artist who uses only European hair for the pieces. For variety you can wear the sets of curls together as a waterfall or chignon.

Spiced Prune Loaf Cake Ideal for Your Party

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

ANY TEEN-AGERS on your Christmas list would love some hand-knit mittens or socks, homemakers dote on attractive little aprons and guest towels, and youngsters adore little stuffed dogs and cats.

So why not get a few friends together to work an afternoon or evening a week making Christmas gifts? An hour or two of work, and then a cup of tea and cake or cookies—a sociable afternoon with a lot accomplished. And here are some suggestions that will win you laurels galore:

SPICED PRUNE LOAF CAKE

1 cup cooked prunes
½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar 1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. nutmeg ½ tsp. cloves
2 eggs ½ cup cold coffee
½ tsp. soda
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tsp. baking powder
½ cup salted peanuts
½ tsp. salt, if desired

Pit prunes and cut into very small pieces. Cream butter, add sugar and spices and cream thoroughly. Add well-beaten eggs and beat. Add coffee in which soda has been dissolved, alternately with flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Add prunes and peanuts and stir to blend. Pour into a greased paper-lined pan (7x11x1½ in.). Bake about 35 minutes in an oven preheated to 375 deg. F. Frost with mocha frosting.

MOCHA FROSTING

2 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsp. cream
2 tbsp. strong hot coffee
3 tbsp. cocoa
2 cups sifted powdered sugar
½ tsp. vanilla
¼ tsp. salt

To the butter and cream add coffee heated to boiling. Add cocoa sifted with sugar. Work to proper consistency. Add vanilla and salt, and spread.

DATE AND NUT BARS

¾ cup sifted cake flour
½ tsp. baking powder
⅛ tsp. salt
2 eggs
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup chopped nut meats
1 cup sliced dates

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Beat eggs until light, add sugar gradually, and beat well. Stir in sifted dry ingredients combined with nut meats and dates. Bake in a greased, 8-inch square pan in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 30 minutes. Cool slightly and cut in 4x1-inch strips. Roll in powdered sugar, if desired. Makes 16 squares.

SCOTCH SHORTBREAD

1¼ cups sifted flour
⅛ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. cornstarch
⅛ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
½ cup butter or margarine

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cream butter and gradually add sifted dry ingredients. Blend thoroughly. Press mixture flat in ungreased 9-inch cake pan. Crimp edges with a fork and prick well all over. Bake in slow oven (325 deg. F.) about 25 to 30 minutes, or until very lightly browned. Remove from oven, and leave in pan until cold. The shortbread should then be broken rather than cut into pieces. Makes one 9-inch cake.

Public Warned Not to Use Leaves From Illinois Firm

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 22 (INS)—Dr. Merman E. Hilleboe, New York state health commissioner, warned the public today against the use of peppermint leaves packaged by an Illinois firm, pending further investigation of two poisoning cases.

Dr. Hilleboe said a Schenectady, N. Y., couple is suffering from belladonna poisoning traced to the peppermint tea, which was found on analysis to contain at least 50 per cent belladonna leaves.

Royal Honeymooners Have Day Indoors as Rain Falls

ROMSEY, Eng., Nov. 22 (INS)—Britain's royal honeymooners got one of those perfect days today for staying indoors and catching up on the mail.

And there was plenty of mail for them to read. Romsey's little red mail truck swung through the gates of Broadlands at 7 a.m. With the first batch of morning mail in several bags.

There is a drizzling, wet rain in the little Hampshire honeymoon town and even the rooks and seagulls wheeling overhead near the 6000-acre Mountbatten estate screeched their distaste for the weather.

But Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh reportedly were enjoying the change after their outing yesterday when Philip drove his bride through the countryside in a jeep.

Congratulatory messages were pouring into the Romsey postoffice and sorting clerks with their sleeves rolled up were kept busy emptying sacks upon sacks of letters.

The local butcher, R. G. Drew, was also up early today sorting out his meat to ascertain whether he has suitable piece of beef to send to Broadlands for the royal Sunday dinner.

BOLD EXAMPLE OF BAD FAITH IN CONTRACTS

A CLEAR CASE of BAD FAITH in international contracts, in the callous and characteristic manner so often demonstrated by Soviet Russia in such matters, is newly emerged from the impasse which exists over the status of ships lend-leased to Russia by the United States during the war.

On a recent date, a vessel sailing from Baltimore under the Swedish flag with a cargo of coal was identified as an American-owned Liberty ship operating under RUSSIAN CHARTER to Sweden.

This was one of 95 American vessels lend-leased to Russia for the transport of war supplies, all of which the Russian government had agreed to return to their American owners after the war, with purchase as the only alternative.

None of the 95 vessels have been returned or bought, although the deadline for such disposal expired last March—and many of them appear frequently in American ports, still carrying American cargoes to Russia but now in competition with American shipping lines.

This in itself is a flagrant abuse of American wartime generosity and co-operation, since it has provided Russia with the principal part of her postwar merchant marine at American expense and with continuing American disadvantage in maritime enterprise.

But the incident of the Swedish collier adds brazen INSULT to the already grave INJURY.

NOT ONLY is Soviet Russia using American vessels AGAINST US to her own maritime advantage, but she is now chartering them to other maritime competitors of the United States, to their great profit and Russia's great aggrandizement and OUR GREAT DETRIMENT.

Ironically, when the circumstances of the Baltimore sailing were called to the attention of the American State Department the opinion was given that, despite the original purposes and contracts of the lend-lease agreements with Russia, NO VIOLATION WAS INVOLVED.

The American State Department already stands self-convicted of FUTILITY in its efforts to persuade or compel Russia to live up to the terms of the lend-lease agreement.

Now it confesses IMPOTENCY.

In view of these facts, there seems to be no alternative for the United States Government—if it is to protect itself in this amazing situation—other than that proposed by Chairman Weichel of the Merchant Marine Committee of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Weichel proposes that any of the lend-lease vessels now in American ports, or any calling at American ports hereafter, be SEIZED by American authorities.

ASIDE FROM the acknowledged fact of illegal Russian possession, says Mr. Weichel, the more menacing fact must be recognized that by providing Russia with ships and selling Russia the cargoes they carry—potential war materials for the most part—we are HELPING COMMUNISM in Europe, and thus defeating the supposed purposes and objectives of the Marshall Plan.

The United States should certainly stop all shipments of goods which, as Mr. Weichel asserts, "might be useful in building up Soviet military strength."

The United States, as a matter of legal right and moral warrant, MUST desist from its blundering policy of providing Russia with ocean carriers for war goods which may ultimately be used against us—and the process of seizure suggested by Mr. Weichel offers the only means of effecting that purpose.

It is indeed "a fraud and a fake on the public," as he contends, that the American government confesses both futility and impotency in the matter of the lend-lease ships, and then attempts to cloak the obvious BAD FAITH of Russia in the fiction of legality.

The fool that willingly provokes a woman
Has made himself another evil angel,
And a new hell to which all other torments
Are but mere pastime.
BEAUMONT and FLETCHER

THE ABOVE IS periodically quoted here with a view toward impressing its message on the minds of our bachelor subscribers. Some married men might also do well to take heed of this advice and never to forget what Byron observed: "Sweet is revenge, especially to women—and their revenge is as the tiger's spring, deadly, quick and crushing."

IN "MEDEA," that great actress, Judith Anderson, gives the most brilliant performance of her long career. "Medea" is based on a play by Euripides. It was Euripides who said: "Man's best possession is a sympathetic wife." Medea was a sympathetic wife but her husband didn't appreciate her. He deserted her and their two children to take up with a nearby blonde whose father had much money and great political power. Medea decided to get even and her revenge was indeed "deadly, quick and crushing." Euripides wrote this play about twenty-four hundred years ago. Even before that, other men of experience were urging males not to go too far in provoking women to the point of vengeance. Yes, sir, for over three thousand years men have been urged to be careful about having a "woman-scorned" on their neck. But the advice is still widely ignored. The public prints daily record the cases of men who have come to an untimely end or have had their careers ruined by cast-off women whose "softness has turned to fury and whose thoughts breathe vengeance and destruction."

Judith Anderson

FLYING TACKLE: The flying tackle and the flying block have been outlawed in football as being too dangerous. I went in for flying tackles for nine years of school and college football and I feel all right. I am glad I played before this type of tackling was outlawed. The only real fun I had playing football was trying to beat the ends down the field and to floor the runner with a flying tackle. If the body is relaxed it is a very safe way to tackle. It certainly was a good way to stop a runner in his tracks. Now a runner often advances five or six yards while an opponent is tackling him.

ASKING QUERIES FROM CLIENTS—Q. Listen, mule, why don't you stop being stubborn and admit Hanson Gregory invented the doughnut? A. Gregory is only the originator of the idea of the hole in the doughnut. I strongly question the value of the innovation. Listen, if I decide to put a hole in an apple pie, am I the inventor of the apple pie? Q. Heard a couple of school teachers talking about you? One said you were "peripatetic." Is that right, Eddie? If so, does it hurt? Is it incurable? A. What, no dictionary at your house? A person who is peripatetic is one who thinks while walking.

PASSING BY: Steve Hannagan. The press agent who became a counsel of public relations. Born and reared in Lafayette, Ind., but now lives on Park ave., Manhattan, and at Miami Beach, Florida. As a press agent he promoted the Indianapolis Speedway auto races to a major event. He exploited Miami Beach to its present eminence. He made Sun Valley, Idaho, famous and after Walter Winchell had given the Stork Club its start on the road to fame and fortune Mr. Hannagan kept pushing the Billingsley bistro along. He has been married twice but both ended in divorce, and up to late hour last night he was still in circulation.

MARRIAGE MARKET: More people secure matrimonial mates through agencies and advertising mediums in England than in any other country in the world. The two leading marriage market publications are the Matrimonial Times and the Matrimonial Post. A recent issue of the former carried 415 advertisements of people seeking matrimonial mates. These advertisements included 93 from widows, 81 from widowers, 123 from spinsters, 118 from bachelors.

SAYS HE: "So a woman refers to most of the men seen in the financial district of our city as a sloppy and sorry-looking group of individuals," writes a San Franciscan. "I do not wish to be ungallant but I am driven to it. The women seen in the same section are no bargains either. San Francisco business women once had the reputation of being the country's best dressed career girls. Those days are gone forever. Most of the females one now sees in our downtown district bring to mind the comment of Dean Swift as to a resident of Dublin, namely: 'She looks as if her clothes had been thrown on her with a pitchfork.'"

"I don't care HOW it looks—it's the only way I can get at my money!"

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

IT IS ONE THING for the President to make a proposal; it is quite another for Congress to accept it. Mr. Roosevelt had a Congress of his own for much of his presidential career. He introduced what he called "must" legislation and his measures were rushed through, often without even being read.

G. E. Sokolsky

Today it is altogether a different story. Both the Senate and the House have Republican majorities and all investigating committees are chaired by Republicans. Therefore, what the President proposed he will not get through. Although it is likely that stop-gap financial aid to Europe and China will be passed before Christmas, few of the President's ten-point program will come out of committee by then; most of it will never come out of committee while this Congress is in session.

Such measures as limitations upon private credit and the continuation of control of rents may receive favorable action, but the restoration of OPA in any form seems out of question.

SENATOR TAFT answered Mr. Truman on OPA and such measures in advance of the President's message to Congress. He said:

". . . The President himself had removed nearly all price control before the Republicans took over on Jan. 1 of this year, although he could have continued it in many fields until July 1, 1947. Up to June there was reasonable belief that prices and wages had reached a point of stabilization—until the failure of the corn crop, the failure of European crops, and the tremendous effect of a greatly expanded export demand.

"Since Congress adjourned prices have resumed their rise, particularly in the agricultural field. I fully agree with the President that the situation is a serious one for many families in this country and that definite changes in government policy are called for, most of them executive rather than legislative."

THE REPUBLICANS hold that the President possesses powers which he will not use, such as curbs on exports and the control of the issuance of currency, both of which are major factors in the current inflation. The failure of the President fully to use delegated authority does not encourage the delegation of additional authority. In fact, rather than giving him what Mr. Truman himself called the "police state," the Republicans are likely to investigate the use of delegated powers particularly in relationship to government hoarding of food while requesting the public not to make purchases as though there were a shortage.

TAFT MAKES the point, more politely of course, that since Bretton Woods the American people were lied to by the Administration, which overdramatized each request for funds and overpromised its probable accomplishment. At the time that the International Bank and international fund were organized at the cost of $6,000,000,000 to the American taxpayer, Taft says: ". . . We were told that the Treasury Department loans to Great Britain would be wholly unnecessary. As I said at that time, the fund was utterly unsuited to the problems of the world at that time. It is now only serving the purpose of distributing a few billion dollars around the world without reference to merit or to need. These dollars are coming back to the United States to force our prices up.

"In spite of the Treasury Department we were soon faced with a four billion dollar British loan. Again we were told it was necessary to save the world and would surely do so. Britain itself did not require so much for exports from the United States, but the loan was to make sterling a medium of world exchange and re-establish world trade. Today the loan is nearly gone and the problems of Britain are apparently as great as they were when it was granted."

THE REPUBLICANS feel that the overdramatization of issues must stop. They will not be rushed. They will pay not the slightest attention to the irrational propaganda of the Stinson committee. They will investigate, scrutinize, analyze and legislate slowly and with as much wisdom as they and their Democratic allies can bring to bear on the subject. As for the long-term Marshall plan—it is a long way off.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS) —The combination of Joan Bennett and Joe Cotten is something new under the Hollywood sun and intriguing, if you ask me.

Joan Bennett

Perhaps I should say it is all but set for Joe to co-star with Joan in "The Blank Wall" for Walter Wanger, who is married to Joan in private life.

But there are going to be some changes made where La Bennett is concerned. She's fed to the teeth playing bad girls, homicidal heroines and frustrated females. This new novel, just put out by Simon and Schuster, gives her the sympathetic role of a young mother—just her cup of tea, with three daughters of her own at home.

Of course, Walter has "Joan" with Ingrid Bergman to bring in before starting this one.

RIGHT FROM LONDON comes a cable from Norman Siegel, who escorted the command performance stars to England. He tells of the stars' reactions to the wedding procession.

Bob Hope, the Robert Montgomerys, Loretta Young and Tom Lewis, Alexis Smith and Craig Stevens, had a choice vantage spot—the terrace of the British admiralty—and got an eyeful of everything.

"Bob Montgomery was particularly thrilled," Norm said, "because we were right across the street from the place where he worked 80 feet underground with our Navy office during the war. The subterranean offices were the nerve center of the British war effort. Even Churchill's office was down there. Bob was plenty glad to be above ground this time," Norman said.

WHO CAN PLAY Tom Smith, famous Irish trainer of Seabiscuit, better than Barry Fitzgerald? The $64 answer is —nobody. Warners are so well aware of this that they are all but making goggle eyes at Paramount trying to borrow him.

Rights to the "Seabiscuit" saga, story of the most popular race horse ever bred in the west, were sold to Warners months ago by Charles Howard, the owner.

TOMORROW morning Joseph Schenck arrives in New York. Also Louis B. Mayer, Henry Ginsberg and Eddie Mannix. Harry Cohn is already in town. They are here for a conference to be held with Barney Balaban, Nicholas Schenck and all other studio heads. The meeting will be held in an effort to purge the screen of all Communistic influence.

You may be sure from now on there will be no more of these Red sympathizers turning out our scripts and directing our pictures. These men and women, plus the few actors accused, will have it made clear to them that there is no place in the American picture industry for anyone not 100 per cent American in his ideals and actions.

A few of these people are definitely Reds. Some of them, at one time, thought it was the smart thing to be on the wrong side of the fence. Now I am glad to say the majority are coming to their senses.

GREER GARSON leaves for home tomorrow. She's back at the Waldorf feeling, she says, much better. She was the house guest of Eleonora Sears of Boston—"And a wonderful guest I was," Greer told me, "they had no more than greeted me when I was seized with such pain they had to get the doctor."

Greer says "The Nutmeg Tree" goes back to that title instead of "Speak to Me of Love," which it was called for a while. She will do either that first or "Bruges," which Eddie Knopf is getting ready for her. If she does "The Nutmeg Tree" she will have her old sidekick, Walter Pidgeon, and she says very frankly she's delighted.

I TALKED with Warren Chetham Strode, the British playwright whose play, "The Guinea Pig," about the English public school system, ran in London for 18 months. It's closed now, but it goes before the cameras there in December under production of the Bolting brothers. I understand Warners will release it.

Strode and his collaborator wife, Mora Verschoyle, leave for Hollywood on the 29th to adapt to the screen Mary Renault's prize winning novel, "Return to Night." Strode was very enthusiastic about a new English actor, Richard Attenborough, who will be in "The Guinea Pig."

Incidentally, he tells me this doesn't conflict with "The Winslow Boy," which I enjoyed seeing here, and which also tells about the English school system.

SNAPSHOTS of New York and Hollywood collected at Random: Hear Warners have handed Errol Flynn a 15-year contract—which is one way to grow old gracefully.

Had supper with John Loder and the very attractive Evelyn Ausmordt at The Stork after his performance in "For Love or Money." Morton Downey joined us — but having the best time of all was my young cousin, Gordon Maynard. After serving in the Marines for four years, it's his first trip to New York and he loves it. His enthusiasm reminds me of his mother, Margaret Ettinger.

Errol Flynn

Bennett Cerf heads to Hollywood shortly to interview some new authors.

Talk is that the famed Madison avenue home of Mrs. Ogden Reid will probably be turned into an embassy.

Hear the screen publicist guild's "panhandle party," for the purpose of feeding and roasting the Los Angeles press, was a lot of fun. Yep—they had me on the griddle along with others—but it was all in fun and I don't mind. (But don't you boys think I didn't get a blow by blow account.)

Is Mrs. Richard Arlen really very ill? I hear her condition was serious following what was thought to be a minor operation.

Dan Duryea has asked for time off to do "Daddy Is the Villain" on Broadway next year.

Blossom Seeley is really the devoted little woman. She attends every one of Benny Fields' sensational performances at Slapsy Maxie's. No one tops Benny on those good old-fashioned vaudeville routines.

The Ritz brothers will appear at the Beachcombers in Florida this year because their agent is mad at the Copacabana, where they appeared last year.

Come Monday—what's left of me is heading for home so—

That's all today. See you Monday.

FORGOTTEN LIGHT DEPARTMENT: Otis st., between Winthrop sq. and Summer st., has only one street light, but it's been burning continuously for weeks, night and day . . . To all those national commanders, American Legion, who got their places through the efforts of Bill Doyle of Malden: The "kingmaker" is desperately ill (his heart) at Johns Adams Hospital (Old Soldiers' Home), Chelsea. Often in an oxygen tent, he has been given up several times by his doctors, only to amaze them by rallying . . . Daily Gertrude Lawrence item: The San Francisco Press Club nicknamed her "Scoop," after the club's famous cat mascot; others call her "Gee." Only Noel Coward dares call her "Gertie."

LOWDOWN ON THE UNDERGROUND: Park st. and Boylston st. subway stations, under the Common, may be made one continuous station . . . In Medford, a couple of hundred and some years ago, a man paid a fine for declining to accept election to public office. (My, how times have changed!) . . . A Boston lawyer once a protege of Mahatma Lomasney of the West End, is interviewing city councilmen. His aim is to elect any one of three friends to the council presidency. Since 14 members were re-elected, and every one of them wants that presidency, City Hall thinks he's taken on quite a task . . . Death and Taxes Division. If you pay $3.70 for a bottle of whisky $1.42 goes for whisky and $2.28 for taxes. Well, you can't get drunk on taxes. (But can get awful mad.)

READING THE BANS: According to Cleveland Amory in "Proper Bostonians," the famous old Boston Athenaeum has a locked "sample room" in which are kept the more salacious volumes. A member can borrow one, but only by naming in advance. He can't go in and just browse around . . Wish the State Public Safety Department would make up its mind. Aug. 16, 1946, it approved Howard Hughes' film, "The Outlaw," for Sunday showing. Sept. 13, 1946, it removed "The Outlaw" from the approved list. Aug. 10, 1947, it again approved the film. Nov. 14, 1947, it removed "The Outlaw" from the approved list . . . Could this have been because, on Nov. 5, we revealed that "The Outlaw" had been banned by Boston, but approved by the state?

IT HAPPENED on West st. where Melmoth B. Smith of Arlington said he saw and heard it. The woman driver careened through the narrow lane, sideswiping other cars, taking off a little paint here, a fender or two there. When a policeman caught up with her, he demanded "Well, let's see your license." Said she: "Do you mean to tell me they'd give me a license, when I drive like this?" . . . Outside 55 Tremont st. we noticed Ace Investigator Smiley of the Veterans Administration Central Office (Washington), whom we met last year. Is he here on that regional office tool case, or personnel matters? . . Carl Raymond Gray, Jr., 58, new head of the Veterans Administration, worked himself up from clerk to vice-president in the railroad world, from captain to major-general in the army. He is a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants and American Legion—not a West Pointer.

POLICE AND POLITICS DEPARTMENT: Time was when the late Charles F. Hurley, as governor, assigned Jack Bresnahan of the Boston police as his personal detective on the unsolved Beano Breen murder case. And when Bob Bushnell, as attorney general, used him to aid an anti-gambler drive. And when Bresnahan was mentioned for deputy police superintendent . . . Well, Jack now wears a patrolman's uniform, rides the rear end of the Mattapan police van. Thursday night his brother officers elected him to the Boston Police Relief Ass'n . . . Bishop's Serenade: Henry Knox Sherrill, Episcopal bishop of the United States, came back to Boston for the Trinity parish dinner. So Canterbury clubbers sang him Yale's "Whiffenpoof Song": "To the tables down at Mory's, To the place where Louie dwells." Yes, he's an old Blue.

FLOSSY is the only word for that party thrown at the Rio Casino by Dave Schwartz (delicatessen) and Bob O'Neill (soda water). But the air-freight charge on those pheasants flown in from Sun Valley, Idaho, made the birds cost about as much as the champagne . . . Harry Marshard, combat major in Europe, now of course back at baton-weaving, took his band, Ginny Simms and rotund Billy Dooley, the comedian, to Cushing Veterans Hospital this week . . . Matty Norton, the fight trainer, just back from England, told us at the Music Box that he saw nothing overseas to worry American fighters . . . Russ Howard surprised everybody at Hurley's Log Cabin by showing up with new tap-dancing shoes. For years he wore a pair given him by Sally Keith. He's having them bronze-plated with "Sally" on them. And tassels, of course?

SENIORS AND JUNIORS DEPARTMENT: Johnny Sullivan, son of the great little police reporter, yesterday grabbed off Boston College's highest award for scholarship excellence and was named Knight Commander of the Cross and Crown Honor Society . . . And Danny Lynch, 8-year-old son of an ex-newspaperman (now central municipal court clerk), got home Thursday from the hospital, where he left his tonsils. Danny had no complaints—until he remembered it was his birthday . . . Sheepishly: That 25 per cent cut this week in the import duty on fine wool wasn't so much of a boon to Boston wool men as you might think. The Aussies had already upped prices at least that much.

Broadway's Voice

NEW YORK, Nov. 22— The film colony's current believe-it-or-not twosome is composed of Rita Hayworth and — boining! — Maxie Rosenbloom. He's been taking her to the openings . . . Ann (Mrs. Jack) Warner's European travels resulted in her checking in at Hollywood's Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where she will undergo observation . . . Marlene Dietrich's local escort is the sensational new Italian film idol Gar Moore (who, despite his fluent Italiano, actually is an American lad and was seen last on Broadway as understudy to Richard Hart in "Dark of the Moon") . . . The stork has cancelled its scheduled visit to the Richard Contes of movieland.

J. EDGAR HOOVER will be a glamor boy with a major role in the next Hollywood FBI epic . . . The Mamie Franks (Vivian Blaine), who were tiffing, have changed their minds. Now they ask night club photographers to take lovey-dovey shots of them . . . Carole Landis, who is in London emoting in "The Brass Monkey," writes that she flew to Paris for a week-end and found it "gay in spite of the unsettled conditions." She dined with the Duchess of Windsor at Maxim's . . . Baritone Richard Bonelli will always be grateful to Alcoholics Anonymous for rehabilitating a close friend of his. He paid off last Saturday night by singing for the AA show.

MAE WEST and her London romance are the talk of England's theatrical set. A titled fellow, the buzz has it . . . Giles Paces B. U. Attack For Score Over Colgate

By MURRAY KRAMER

FENWAY PARK, Nov. 21—Boston University closed out the first season of its new deal football era under Coach Aldo Buff Donelli here this afternoon before 5000 customers with Colgate furnishing the opposition.

It was the first grid meeting between the two and Colgate's initial Boston appearance.

Going into the game, the Terriers sported a 4-3 record while the Red Raiders from Chenango Valley up in New York State had only one victory against four losses and two ties. Despite the poorer record, Colgate was still pregame favorite in view of the much tougher schedule it had played.

This was the season windup for both clubs, and since a large gathering was not anticipated, Boston University set the fray aside as high school day. There were some 2500 high school athletes in the stands as guests of B. U. and 30 school bands. The bands put on an hour pre-game show that was worth the price of admission.

FIRST PERIOD

Boston University won the toss and elected to receive. Anderson brought the kick off back 20 yards to his own 41 Giles broke away to the Colgate 52.

The Terriers were then halted temporarily but after a kicking exchange B. U. went on the attack again after Giles had returned to the Colgate 45 with a Muehlheuser punt.

Hatch sliced for 10. Toner hit Anderson with a first down pass over the middle on the Colgate 18.

Three sweeps netted 7 yards and Colgate took over on its own 11. Muehlheuser's boot was partially blocked by Boston and B. U took over on the Colgate 30. Giles made 6. B. U. was penalized 15 yards for an illegal formation.

Kirkman swept left end on a "naked" and went to the 15 for a first down. Giles swept right to the five. Giles bucked for two and Cella then veered off tackle for a touchdown. Dorr converted.

Score: B. U. 7, Colgate 0.

Hatch kicked off and Baird came back 15 yards to give Colgate a first down on its own 27. McLaughlin lost seven yards attempting to pass as the quarter ended.

Score: B. U. 7, Colgate 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Muehlheuser booted to the B. U 44. Marburger intercepted a Giles pass on his own 35 and raced all the way back to the B. U. 40. Colgate tried the air lanes and Anderson intercepted a McLoughlin pitch to give the Terriers possession on their own 39.

Unable to advance, Toner punted to the Colgate 23. After two running plays had failed to gain, Baird took a pitchout from McLoughlin, cut inside in his own left end and raced 77 yards for a touchdown. Gall converted.

Score: B. U. 7, Colgate 7.

After that touchdown explosion by Colgate, the fray settled to a kicking game with neither outfit showing much in the way of attack.

With two minutes remaining, Colgate started driving from its own 24. With big Frank Muehlheuser belting the tackles, the Raiders ripped off two quick first downs to their own 44 as they raced against the clock.

McLoughlin passed to Kershaw for another first down on the B. U. 41. With only eight seconds to go, McLoughlin fired deep to Mulligan who outlegged the B. U. right halfback and grabbed the pass on the B. U. 9 from where he galloped the rest of the way. Gall converted.

Score: Colgate 14, B. U. 7.

Gall kicked off to Toner who came back to his own 45 as the half ended.

Score: Colgate 14, B. U. 7.

THIRD PERIOD

The Terriers moved into scoring position very early in the period when Baird fumbled on the very first play after the kickoff and Heller recovered for B. U. on the Colgate 35. Hatch swung for five and then went to the 20 on a dive tackle. Kirkman plicked up four and Hatch sliced to the 11. Hatch fumbled and Tighe recovered on the 13. On fourth down, Hatch fought his way to nine all alone for another first down. A Toner pitchout went wide of its mark and cetkow recovered

Yale Beats Harvard, 31-21

By BILL GRIMES

YALE BOWL, Ct., Nov. 22—Ideal weather conditions prevailed here this afternoon as Yale and Harvard squared off in the 64th renewal of their Ivy grid classic before a gathering of 70,000 fans. As the teams took the field, the Elis, losers of three decisions after a fast start, ruled a seven-point favorite to dump the Crimson for the 37th time. Harvard has won 21 of these meetings with 36 goin gto the Yales and six ending in deadlocks.

FIRST PERIOD

Yale won the toss and elected to receive. Drvaric kicked off to FitzGerald who carried back to the Yale 26. On two plunges by Furse and Fitz the Elis got a first down on the 41.

After Nadherny had picked up four yards, Jackson was trapped on a handoff for a loss of four yards. Then Yale completed a forward pass but, offside, was penalized five yards. With the count fourth and four to go Jackson punted to O'Donnell on the Harvard ten and Ken carried it back to the 30.

The Harvard offense didn't click and after three rushes Flynn punted to FitzGerald on the Yale 20 but again Yale was offside and the penalty gave the Crimson a first down on its 42.

Taking a handoff from Kenary, Moffie moved up to the Harvard 40 off his left tackle. On the second play Gannon broke through for a first down on the Yale 47 from where Kenary ran the ball to the 35.

After a Kenary to Gannon pass had failed, Lazzaro and Kenary collided, the Wakefield boy fumbled, and Nadherny recovered for Yale.

On the first play Yale drew another offside penalty and was on its 30. Jackson lost a yard on a sweep. A long pass from Furse to Setear was good for a 32-yard gain to the Harvard 30. Then Jackson broke through the Harvard line to the 12.

It required three bucks to move the ball to the Harvard two from where Furse went over on a quarterback sneak. Booe kicked the goal after.

Score: Yale 7, Harvard 0.

Fuchs kicked off to Wally Flynn who got back to the Yale 46. He was almost away but Conway got him from behind. Gannon raced around left end for a first down on the 34.

On the next play, Kenary threw a 33-yard pass to Moffie who made the completion in the end zone. Drvaric kicked the goal.

Score—Harvard 7, Yale 7.

Drvaric's kickoff was taken by Furse who got back to his 33 where Flynn nailed him. A Furse to Jenkins pass gave the Elis a first down on their 47 as the quarter ended.

Score, end of first period—Harvard 7, Yale 7.

SECOND PERIOD

On second down, Furse threw a pass to FitzGerald for a short gain and then Nadherny made a first down on the Harvard 38. With the count third and eight, O'Donnell knocked down a Furse pass which was intended for FitzGerald and Jackson punted out of bounds on the Harvard 11 and the Crimson took over.

Harvard advanced eight yards on a Lazzaro fumble when Gorczynski recovered the loose ball but the Crimson was penalized five yards for offside. Wally Flynn punted to FitzGerald at midfield and the Eli was dropped by Hill on the Harvard 47.

Furse threw a lateral out to FitzGerald who heaved a long diagonal forward to Nadherny, but the ball sailed over his head. On third down Nadherny broke through to the Harvard 35 for a first down and then Furse passed to Jenkins on the Harvard 21.

Jackson and FitzGerald carried on the next two plays and picked up nine yards. Hill stopped Jackson for no gain, but on the following play the big Negro star smashed through to the nine for a first down.

Yale continued to hit the Crimcon line and on the third play Furse went over for the TD. Booe kicked the goal.

Score: Yale 14, Harvard 7.

Booe kicked off to O'Donnell who got back to his own 37. After Gannon had gained four yards, Kenary was trapped by Frank trying to pass and it was third and ten to go. After Moffie made three yards, Wally Flynn punted to FitzGerald who made the catch on his 11 and was downed on the 25 by Hill.

Jackson took a handoff from Furse and then threw a forward to McQuade who was downed on the 42 by O'Donnell who, on the ensuing play, intercepted a Furse pass to give Harvard the ball on its 47.

Lazzaro found a hole in the Yale line and stepped through it to the Elis' 41 for another first down.

Lazzaro moved the ball three yards on a plunge. A Kenary pass intended for Hill overshot the target. But Gannon then grabbed a Kenary pass to give Harvard a first down on the Yale 15, from where Lazzaro broke through and ran for a touchdown. Drvaric kicked the goal.

Score—Harvard 14, Yale 14.

Drvaric kicked out of bounds twice so Yale put the ball in play on the Harvard 40 but on the first play, Ken O'Donnell intercepted a Furse pass and raced back to the Yale 45. A Kenary to Gannon pass moved the pigskin to the Elis' 30 where the receiver was nailed by Furse.

Harvard took to the air, but missed connections on three tries and was penalized for delaying the game. On fourth down, 10 to go, Leo Flynn's attempt to pass was partially blocked and Furse intercepted on his 31.

Furse to Setear pass gave the Elis a first down on the Harvard 49 and then on the last play of the period, Jackson threw a 45-yard pass which McQuade completed as the gun sounded.

Score at half: Harvard 14, Yale 14.

THIRD PERIOD

Moffie took Booe's kickoff back to the Harvard 25. With the count third and four Gannon broke through but when he was hit fumbled. However, he fell on the ball and the Crimson had a first down on its 45.

Then Lazzaro took off and raced to the Yale 33 but Harvard was detected holding which nullified the play and cost the Crimson 15 yards. Wally Flynn punted to FitzGerald who was thrown on his 33. With FitzGerald and Furse carrying, Yale moved to the 49. Nadherny slipped through the line to the Harvard 44. Jim Noonan was injured on the play. It took three plays for Yale to move eight yards but then Nadherny got a first down on the Crimson 33.

Nick Rodis twisted his knee in stopping Jackson and retired. With the count fourth down and four, Setear jumped high and grabbed a pass from FitzGerald for a first down on the Harvard 15. On the following play, Jackson ran for a touchdown around his right end. Booe kicked the point.

Score: Yale 21, Harvard 14.

Fuchs kicked off to Gannon, who was knocked out of bounds

EAGLES TURN GAELS LATERAL INTO SCORE

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, SAT., NOV. 22, 1947

By JOHN GILLOOLY

Meeting for the first time, Boston College tangled with St. Mary's before a slim gathering of 15,000 at Braves Field this afternoon. Cynosure of all eyes was the Gaels' triple-threat Hawaiian halfback Herman Wedemeyer, elusive senior who bears the brunt of the Gaels offensive punch. A 21-point underdog at game time, the Gaels' lone hope of topping the Eagles rested on the dark-haired lad who was voted an All-America selection as a sophomore.

FIRST PERIOD

BC won the toss and elected to kick, Wedemyer ran Gianelli's boot from the 10 to the St. Mary's 25.

Two Van Heuit passes and a running play lost four yards and Hughes ran Van Heuit's kick to the St. Mary's 48, but a clipping penalty on the play set the Eagles back on their own 37. Three running plays gave BC a first down on its own 49.

Joe Diminick slashed off right tackle and sped to the Gaels' 16 before a shoestring tackle by Turley downed him. Three plays later, Diminick scored from the one after Bernie Lanoue had set up the score with a 10 yard end sweep. Brennan's boot failed.

Score: BC 6, St. Mary's 0.

Van Heuit ran Donovan's kick to the Gaels' 21. Three plays gained six yards and Hughes ran Van Heuit's boot 21 yards to the Gael's 42.

Diminick made it to the 40 and Stuka attempting to pass, found his receivers covered and galloped to the St. Mary's 26. Line plays advanced the ball to the eight but a holding penalty set BC back on the St. Mary's 29. Two Lanoue rushes and a Ed Songin pass failed and Brennan booted to the Gaels' nine.

On the first play, Van Heuit went back to pass and was about to get smeared when he tried to lateral to Verceles. The lateral went askew and fell in the St. Mary's end zone where burly John Kissell pounced on it for a touchdown. Brennan's kick was true.

Score: BC 13, St. Mary's 0.

Wedemeyer ran Donovans kick-off from his ten to the 26. Three plays later VenHeuit booted and Hughes ran the kick from the B. C. 33 to the Eagles' 48. Farrell advanced to the St. Mary's 48 and a loss set B. C. back on its 41. Brennan booted and Wedemeyer ran it to the Gaels' 18. Van Heuit made a first down on the 28 as period ended.

Score B. C. 13, St. Mary's 0

SECOND PERIOD

Wedemeyer gained nothing and Van Heuit ran to the 33. He then booted to the BC 34. Four running plays ate up big chunks of yardage as the Eagles moved to the St. Mary's 28.

The Eagles' offensive bogged down and the Gaels' took over on downs on their own 21. On third down, Van Heuit quick kicked and Hughes ran it from the BC 43 to St. Mary's 36. On second down Jim Benedetto scampered 33 yards for a touchdown on an off tackle run. Brennan missed the point.

Score—BC 19, St. Mary's 0.

Wedemeyer ran Donovan's boot from the 16 to St. Mary's 35. A loss set the Gaels back on their 30. On a razzle-dazzle play, Wedemeyer lateralled to Van Heuit who tossed a pass to O'Connor on the BC 39. Bob Palladino broke up an attempted screen pass and the Gaels' lost on the next play to their 48. Van Heuit booted and Hughes ran it to the BC 25.

Two penalties, offside and holding, put the Eagles back on their own eight. Ryan stole the ball from Clasby and dashed over for a St. Mary's touchdown. Wedemeyer booted the point.

Score: B. C. 19, St. Mary's 7.

Cannava ran Harrington's kick-off to the B. C. 30. Cannava went to the 35 and Lanoue made a first down on B. C. 42. An offside penalty set the Eagles back on their own 37. Clasby's pass was intercepted by Van Heuit who ran from the St. Mary's 41 to B. C. 37 as the half ended.

Score B. C. 19, St. Mary's 7.

THIRD PERIOD

Wedemeyer ran Donovan's kick from the 16 to the St. Mary's 45. Van Heuit passed to Johnson on the B. C. 48 and Wedemeyer made a first down on the B. C. 44. Spinney nailed Van Heuit for a loss on the St. Mary's 44.

From kick formation, Van Heuit, connected with a pass to John Johnson on the B. C. 39 Bernie Lanoue intercepted a Wedemeyer pass and ran to the B. C. 42

Farrell made it to the midfield but a back in motion penalty set the Eagles back on their own 45. Lanoue swept right end for 20 yards to the Gael's 35. Songin ran to the 31. Lancue made a first down on the 24 and Farrell ran to the 20. Songin went to the 17 and then made a first down on the nine. Lanoue and Songin moved it to the seven from where Clasby tossed a pitch out to Lanoue who scampered for the score. Caesario missed the point.

Score—B. C. 25, St. Mary's 7.

Wedemeyer ran Donovan's kick from the 16 to the Gaels' 33 Two successive losses knocked St. Mary's back to their own 23. Massaro's pass was knocked down by Hughes. Ryan dropped Massaro's pass on the midfield stripe. Hughes ran Van Heuit's boot to the BC 42

An offside set BC back on its own 37. Farrell ran to the 40. Songin sped up the middle to the St. Mary's 45, but Goode was detected clipping on the play and BC was penalized to their 40. Ryan fell on a BC fumble on the BC 36. Van Heuit lost to the 38 and a pass failed. Van Heuit's receivers were covered and he ran to the BC 29.

The officials gifted St. Mary's with a fifth down and Van Heuit's pass fell short.

Score: BC 25, St. Mary's 7.

FOURTH PERIOD

BC took over on downs on its own 29. Lanoue went to the 31 and Cannava made a first down on the BC 41. Two plays later, Cannava made another first down, this on the Gaels' 46. Benedetto went to the 43 and Ed Songin romped to the St. Mary's 15 before being forced outside.

Cannava went to the 13 and was knocked back to the 16 on the next play. Van Heuit intercepted Clasby's pass on the two and ran to the St. Mary's 15.

Massaro threw a long pass to Crowe on the St. Mary's 41. Van Heuit lost to the 40. Farrell Intercepted Van Heuit's pass on the BC 44. O'Connor recovered Morro's fumble on the BC 40. Crowe dropped Van Heuit's pass on the BC nine. Wedemeyer made a sensational grab of Harrington's pass and ran from the 31 to the BC 19.

Van Heuit ran to the BC 10 when his receivers were covered and an inebriated gentleman ran on the field to attempt to tackle him as the fans chortled.

Wedemeyer went to the nine and Van Heuit went to the seven. A back in motion penalty set the Gaels back on their own 14. Van Heuit ran to the 12. Wedemeyer's pass failed and BC took over on its own 12.

Farrell went to the 14 and Fred Songin gained to 15. A Stuka to Cannava lateral fizzled and the Eagles lost ground back to their own five. Morro kicked out to the BC 33.

Harrington connected with Johnson wwith a pass on the BC 13. Massaro went to the 12. Wedemeyer advanced to the six on an end run. Boverini knocked down Verceles' pass in the end zone, and BC took over on downs on its own six.

An offside nullified a Fred Songin run, Fred Songin romped to the Eagles' 28, Boverini sped up to the BC 35. Fred Songin carried to the 38. Boverini ran to the 44 as the game ended.

Final score—BC 25, St. Mary's 7.

Kissell Batters Fordham's Line

By PETE McGRATH

WORCESTER, Nov. 22—The Holy Cross Crusaders engaged the Fordham Rams before 8000 spectators on frost-softened Fitton Field. It was Ray Ball Day, a delegation from Clinton attending to honor the Holy Cross co-captain and quarterback.

FIRST PERIOD

Kissell kicked off for Holy Cross and McCaffrey returned it to the Fordham 31. Squatrito pitched a 41-yard pass to Ford. Squatrito made four and Bloomer five. Squatrito was stopped and Deaulieu threw Bloomer for a three-yard loss on the Holy Cross 22-yard line, where the Crusaders took the ball on downs.

Bob Sullivan made three, Kissell four and Farrell six. Bob Sullivan ripped off runs of eight and nine yards and Kissell bulled through center for 10. Bob Sullivan swung right end for 32 yards, being knocked out of bounds on the Fordham six Sullivan made two and then passed to Kissell for a touchdown. Noland missed the point.

Bloomer ran the kickoff to the 27, Kissell stole the ball from Flanagan on the Fordham 29. Bob Sullivan made 8 and Kissell 2 Kissell tore through center and roared 19 yards to a touchdown. Noland kicked the point

Score—Holy Cross 13, Fordham 0.

Clark Griffith

Griffith One Of Baseball's Real Standouts

By BILL CORUM

Recently we made a sort of silly crack in this column about Clark Griffith having caught George Washington's toss of a silver dollar across the Potomac River. And of "Griff" having kept the dollar.

Plainly that was a kidding proposition. We would never have thought of the line again if we hadn't run into Mr. G.'s New York man, Al Schacht. Al is one of the few men alive who know that Nov. 20—is Griff's 78th birthday.

Since he was disposed to argue with us, however, what could we say except that it was all in fun.

Which it was. After all, Griff is an old Clear Creek, Mo., boy who was celebrating his 78th birthday.

That's pretty good going even for a tough Missourian. Plus which, we always have been in Griff's corner. Even when he sold a son-in-law—Joe Cronin—for a quarter of a million dollars we were disposed to regard the deal with approbation and open-eyed wonder.

But, as Schacht told us the story, the Fox of the Potomac, made the deal with reluctance because he wasn't quite sure it was for the good of baseball.

That we could believe. Since, as pitcher and manager and president, Clark G&riffith never has been known to do anything that he didn't believe was a good thing for the game he loves.

Just because Griff, the most astute of the old guard in baseball, believes that the old times were the best times, doesn't convince us.

To the contrary, we feel that we know that Griff never in his life was a fellow who opposed progress.

Nor do we think that he ever was a cheap, or chincy employer. We know better. There were years in which he employed only high priced stars, the highest and most glittering of whom was the greatest pitcher of 'em all, Walter Johnson.

Proof of His Fairness

Schacht tells me that when he named Johnson to manage the Senators, Griff said:

"I've just signed a bad manager for three years. I only hope that he'll get by the first year. Then improve a little the second, and do well enough in the third to hold onto the job. But I'm only hoping that it will be that way."

Which meant, of course,that Griff never really believed that the "Big Train" was a leader at heart. But only that he owed him the chance to prove that he wasn't. That he knew Walter was, basically, too kindly to pilot a major league team in those years.

That turned out to be true. Yet, it is obvious that the Old Fox wasn't fooled, or disappointed. He knew, must have known, that the Prince of Pitchers was miscast as a manager.

But he signed him for three years because he believed that Johnson had earned the chance to try his hand for that long.

If I am to believe Schacht, who, after all, may only be trying to escape paying Griff the $300 he owes him, the Washington owner has been one of the most liberal of all baseball magnates.

Which wouldn't surprise me. After all, Clark Griffith really is baseball in America at its best, and in its essence. A pioneer of the game who helped make the game what it is today.

He is the only president of a ball club who was a great player of the game. He might not have been the greatest pitcher of all time, but the book says that he was the smartest.

Long Ago and Far Away

He started with a team in Bloomington in 1887—was that yesterday?—and has kept on being active in baseball from then until now.

He pitched for everybody as a pitcher, played with, and against, the Ansons and Comiskeys and the Billy Sundays. Brought baseball up through the years from the time that gloves and shin-guards were an innovation.

And now, today, he is 78 and still going strong. You can disagree with him. You can kid him a little. But if you love baseball, a great game, you have to doff your hat and say:

"There's a baseball man. There's a man who made the sport (business) what it is today.

"There's Clark Griffith at 78 and still hustling. There's a fine American gentleman who is as American as baseball and as sound as his ancestors."

Happy 78th birthday, Griff, you've got a fine running start, and mighty little to worry about.

You've done a great job in a great game. You've earned the respect of all of us who love baseball. Which, in a way, could mean all of us who love America.

And if that's bad, what's good?

67-Yd. March Gets Quick TD For Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J. (INS)—Princeton held a 7-0 lead over Dartmouth at the half-time in Palmer Stadium as this year's Big Three champions brought their 1947 season to a close before a crowd of 26,000.

A pass from left halfback Val Wagner to quarterback Dick West midway in the first quarter gave the Tigers their first touchdown after a 72-yard drive had put the ball on the Dartmouth five-yard line. Ken Keuffel converted.

FIRST PERIOD

Princeton marched to a score after receiving the kickoff, piling up five first downs in a 67-yard sustained drive with Sella and Wagner doing most of the work.

Wagner climaxed the drive by passing 11 yards to West, who received the ball and fell forward into the end zone for the touchdown. Keuffel placed-kicked the extra point.

Sella raced 87 yards returning Hannigan's punt two minutes later, but the score was called back and Princeton was penalized 15 yards for clipping.

Princeton 7, Dartmouth 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Interceptions cost both clubs chances for touchdowns in the scoreless period. After Cranberry recovered Carey's fumble on the Dartmouth 27, Leibert's pass was intercepted by Sullivan of Dartmouth on his own 26 Princeton had marched to the Dartmouth four but, after being pushed back to the 15, Chapman intercepted a Wagner pass and ran 66 yards before Wagner forced him out of bounds on the Princeton 19.

However, Burns intercepted a Pensavalle aerial on the 19. Dartmouth came back again and Wagner snatched a pass out of the arms of a Dartmouth receiver on the Princeton three as the half ended.

Score: Princeton 7, Dartmouth 0.

Manets to Close With N. Y. Eleven

The Quincy Manets will close out their home season tomorrow afternoon at the Municipal Stadium by entertaining Bill Williams—the highly touted colored triple threat—and the Stapelton Stapes from New York.

The Stapes were held to a scoreless tie by the Providence Steamrollers and defeated the Portland Sagamores, 20-0, in their lone Bay State engagements.

The Manets (11-4) split even with Providence, the New England Pro Conference winners, copping the first fray, 14-13, and dropping the Conference deciding clash, 17-13 while they knocked off the Sagamores, 20-7.

The Joe Zapustas-coached Quincy Pros, who will wind up their campaign in North Carolina next month, are determined to close out with four straight triumphs.

on his 30. Lazzaro picked up two yards, but Kenary lost one. On fourth down, Wally Flynn punted and the ball was downed on the Yale 32.

A Furse pass was batted down, but Jackson figured that the ball hadn't hit the ground and dashed down to the Harvard 15, where O'Donnell pulled him down. The play was recalled and ruled an incompleted pass.

Yale was unable to gain and Jackson punted to Moffie, who got back to the 35, but the play was called back and Harvard was penalized 15 yards for roughing the kicker.

Nadherny bulled his way to the Harvard 45, after which Furse went to the 40 on a quarterback sneak.

Furse then tossed a short pass to Setear for another first down on the 30. With Nadherny and Kirk carrying, Yale moved down to the Harvard 21, where the quarter ended.

Score, end third period, Yale 21, Harvard 14.

FOURTH PERIOD

On the first play Jackson plowed through to the 15 and it was first down and ten to go. Nadherny was stopped for little gain on the next two plays but Jackson took charge again and he went to the six and it was fourth and one to go.

Jackson was called to carry again and he made the necessary distance. Yale had a first down on the five from where Furse skirted left end for a touchdown. Booe kicked the goal.

Score; Yale 28, Harvard 14.

Fuch's kickoff went to Moffie who was knocked out of bounds on his 25. A pass out on the right flat by Kenary was completed by Gannon for a gain of ten yards but on the ensuing play, Larsen intercepted a Kenary pass on the Crimson 33.

With the count third down and eleven, Jackson returned to the game and tried a running pass to Jenkins. It was grounded. Jackson punted out of bounds on the 22.

Harvard took to the air but Kenary failed to contact Mazzone and Gannon's running heave was too far for Wally Flynn. Then Flynn got Harvard a first down by taking a Kenary pass on the 32.

Harvard moved to midfield on a Kenary to Moffie pass which the Brookline boy caught right on the sidelines before getting tossed out of bounds. On fourth down Roche tried to pass to Lazzaro but failed and Yale took possession on the Harvard 45.

When the Yale ground attack bogged down for two plays, Fitz-Gerald threw a pass to Setear and the Elis were off again. On two plays they moved the ball to the 13 but in three tries from there they went only nine yards.

Then Yale was penalized 15 yards for holding so Booe made a field goal from the 28.

Score: Yale 31, Harvard 14.

Fuchs kicked off to Moffie who was tackled on his 24 by Raines. Kenary threw a pass to Wally Flynn for a first down on the Harvard 40. Then Gannon grabbed a Kenary pass and went to the Yale 44. Unable to find a receiver, Kenary ran the ball and went to the 33. With Yale looking for a pass, Lazzaro was sent in to the line and scampered to the Yale 21. After getting a first down on the 20, Harvard sagged for two plays but then Wally Flynn grabbed a pass from Kenary and went to the Yale three. On the next play Moffie darted through for a touchdown. Drvaric kicked the goal.

Score—Yale 31, Harvard 21.

Drvaric kicked off to McAfee who got to the Harvard 48. Yale was penalized on the next play. Nadherny tried to sweep left end but didn't advance and the game ended after Fuchs was stopped on the line of scrimmage.

Final—Yale 31, Harvard 21.

ND Piles Up Heavy Lead

SOUTH BEND, Nov. 22 (INS)—Notre Dame's great football team prepared today to hurdle its next to last obstacle to a perfect season as it played host to Tulane.

It was the fourth meeting between the two teams. Notre Dame has won the previous three games in the series which began in 1944 and ends next year.

A throng of 56,000 was on hand to see such Irish greats as Johnny Lujack, George Connor and Ziggy Czarobski made their last appearance at South Bend.

The sky was overcast and a chill wind blew through the stadium.

FIRST PERIOD

Shortly after Tulane had stopped a Notre Dame march on its 32, Terry Brennan intercepted Van Meter's pass and ran 36 yards to the Tulane three. In two plays Sitko was over for a touchdown. Fred Earley missed the extra point and Notre Dame led, 6 to 0.

Tulane forgot to touch down Oracko's kickoff and Martin recovered for the Irish on Tulane's 20. On the first play Lujack passed to Sitko for a touchdown and Earley made good this time to make it Notre Dame 13, Tulane 0.

Tulane was unable to get moving and kicked to Notre Dame. In seven plays the Irish moved 66 yards for another score with Brennan going over from Tulane's 18. Earley missed the extra point and Notre Dame led 19 to 0.

Hart recovered the kickoff on Tulane's 37 and on the first play Gampbers romped the route to score for the Irish. Earley made the conversion good and the score was Notre Dame 26, Tulane 0.

Tulane made some gains on Ellender's pass to Olsen and Van Meter's running, but Notre Dame recovered an Ellender fumble on the Irish 40.

In five plays, Notre Dame scored on a Lujack to Brennan pass. Earley missed the extra point and the Irish led, 32 to 0.

The quarter ended with Tulane trying to move from its own 20.

Score: Notre Dame 32, Tulane 0.

Alberghini Wins Huskies Award

Delmo Alberghini of Somerville, last year's New England Intercollegiate low hurdles champ while at Northeastern, has been named winner of the annual perpetual track trophy. The award is given annually by the school's alumni to the top performer of the previous season.

With his records in outdoor and indoor competitions, the trackster ranks among former Husky winners, Mike Prohodsky, Frank Mascianica, Jim Sandler, and Danny Miles. After leaving Northeastern last spring, Alberghini entered Boston University Graduate School.

Yanks Face Alert Van Buren of Eagles

Determined to make amends for a sub-par showing against the Philadelphia Eagles last week, the Boston Yanks are out to make things tough when they tangle with these same Eagles at Fenway Park, Sunday afternoon at 1:30.

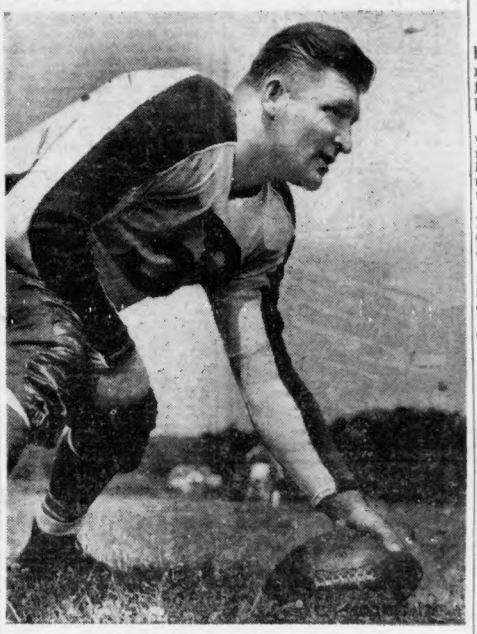
The story last Sunday is simply that the Yanks were far off their game and it wasn't surprising to those close to the Boston picture. Three weeks prior to the Philadelphia test, the Yanks traveled to Chicago and battled the Cardinals, Western division leaders, in a tough, bruising game.

They then returned to Boston and played the rugged Chicago Bears. A trip to the coast followed and with it a rough tussle with the Los Angeles Rams. After some 10,000 miles of travel in three weeks and playing against three of the finest squads in football, the Yanks had little left last Sunday.

But a week at home has worked wonders and the locals are "up" for tomorrow. True, they have a rugged task—not only have the Yanks yet to win their first game from Philadelphia in four years but the Eagles are riding the crest of a four-game winning streak and are at their very peak.

In Steve Van Buren they have the finest runner in football and in Tommy Thompson they have a passer who is second only to Sammy Baugh for Eastern pitching honors. Add these two stars to a rugged forward wall plus several dangerous backs and you have a well rounded ball club.

However, the Yanks are in good condition for Sunday with the exception of Joe Domnanovich. The others are all set and ready to make amends—they hope. Bill Paschal will try to match Van Buren's power running and Boley Dancewicz has the task of outpitching Thompson.



BLOCK OF GRANITE—Philadelphia Eagles center Alexander Wojciechowicz was one of Fordham's "Seven Blocks of Granite" in undergraduate days before Fordham de-emphasized. Now he's blocking granite-fashion for Greasy Neale's eleven after 10 years in the majors. He'll be in lineup against Yanks tomorrow at Fenway Park.

Boxing Commission Suspends 12 Boxers

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

The guillotine—sharp and gleaming steel—is being used by the Massachusetts Boxing Commission in a more definite manner than any other commission on the East Coast. Eight fighters were suspended a short while ago. Twelve more will be shelved on Monday.

All boxers over 28 years of age will be called up for special examinations. The Mass. Commission has arranged for an "emergency" meeting with commissioners from the other New England States.

The rapid-fire decision by the Mass. Commission has nothing to do with the recent suspension of Jake LaMotta in New York City.

"This thing has been brewing for a long time," said boxing commissioner Sam Flaksman. "Many of the fighters now competing in New England rings are sadly out of condition. Many more are young and totally inexperienced. A large percentage of our boxers are over 30 years old.

"These older boxers are many times fighting because of the need of immediate money rather than fighting for the love of the sport," stated Leo Conlon a key man on the commission. The whole boxing bombshell broke wide open last night at Mechanics Bldg. when Albert Sauvageau, Southbridge, was taken to the City Hospital with a fracture at the angle of the left jaw bone and a concussion at the base of the skull. Sauvageau, fighting under the name of "Babe" Martin had been knocked out at 1:41 of the first round by Billy Farmer, Clarendon st., Boston. It was Farmer's first professional fight.

Conlon, Flaksman, and Dr. Nick King, Roslindale, discovered on inquery that "Martin" had falsified his age on his application card.

"He made a sworn statement that he was 30 years of age," said Conlon. "Now he admits that he is really 35. He also stated that he has worn eye glasses for a period of 10 years. He needed the money badly. He only got $75 as his end of the purse for the fight."

Flaksman, acting on behalf of Chairman John Stokes and Commissioner Hop Riopel, made a direct recommendation that Martin's license be suspended immediately.

Dr. King escorted the battered boxer to City Hospital where complete X-rays were taken. "Martin" remained there overnight. He will return to his home at 31 Elm st., Southbridge, on the weekend.

It was also revealed 11 other boxing licenses would be suspended on Monday. One of them is Kid Caruso, 24-year-older from Newton. Caruso, badly out of shape, was knocked out by Jay Perry, Keene, N. H., last night. Frankie Martin, Boston, is another. Martin failed to weigh in for a fight at Salem the other night. He arrived at fight time in bad physical condition.

Bob Martin, brother of Frankie, also felt the glint edged axe. Bobbie was a k.o. victim of Bobby Mack, Hampton, N. Y., at last night's show. The only other boxer to be actually named for the guillotine is Augie Brett, Hartford, who failed to show up for weighing in a Holyoke the other night because of poor physical condition.

While all this was transpiring the participants in the main bout of the evening, Harry Bernsten, Norway, and Jimmy Lake, Canada, were fighting to a draw. We thought Bernsten won the fight.

Bernsten was also a casualty. He broke his hand in the fourth round of the fight and went the rest of the way in biting agony.

"I thought I had won the fight easily," said Bernsten. Harry soaked his melon shaped left hand in a bucket of ice water.

The State Commission, acting under the immediate direction of Commissioner of Public Safety, John Stokes, has made rapid strides in improving the sport in this area.

"We will take no short cuts in our efforts to place boxing back on the high plane that it belongs," stated Comr. Stokes in an interview at his office a short while ago. "I have some excellent support in my drive to iron out the bad spots in boxing. There is Sam Flaksman, recently appointed commissioner; there is "Hop" Riopel, Holy Cross football coach, also a commissioner; there is Leo Conlon, commission secretary; and there is Capt. Joe Crescio of the State Police, an invaluable aid."

The Commission took a strong stand last week when they refused to allow the Bert Lytell-Charley Early fight to take place at Mechanics Bldg. Lytell outweighed his opponent by 17 pounds and the Commission knew that the fight would be an unfair one.

Only a few days ago the Commission refused to allow Lou Brouillard, former world's middleweight champion, to get a license for his intended come-back.

"Lou is too old to fight in this State. He is not in the best shape and would be jeopardizing his own health by fighting," stated the ring czars.

Boxing fans can expect many startling announcements by the Commission within the next week. Legislation has already been drafted to insure the paying clients the best in competition.

Bruins and Canadiens Collide Here

The National Hockey League pennant race reaches its quarter way mark this weekend, when all six teams will be in action, four of them playing both tonight and tomorrow, and the league-leading Boston Bruins in particular face the arduous task of playing against two of their most formidable rivals, in Toronto tonight against the Leafs and at Boston Garden tomorrow night against Canadiens.

The Toronto visit will be the second game of a home and home series the Bruins are playing with the Stanley Cup champions. The teams played in Boston Wednesday night and the Bruins won 7-2, continuing the furious offensive which has seen them score 26 goals to opponents eight in the last four games, and gain undisputed possession of first place.

When Canadiens come here tomorrow night the fur really should fly. The teams have met three times. There is no love lost between them. The Bruins beat the flying Frenchmen, 3-1, in their first meeting in Boston, in one of the best games of the season.

The Canadiens, taking advantage of Bruins penalties, blanked Milt Schmidt and his mates 5-0 in a return game on Montreal ice. In their third meeting, also at Montreal, the Bruins walloped Canadiens 9-1, and would have made it 20-1 if they could. It was so decisive that the Montreal fans wound up booing their great goaler, Bill Durnan who has won the Vezina trophy the last three years.

That 9-1 defeat rankled. Canadiens lost tremendous face before their home fans. There is a score they have to settle with the Bruins, and from Coach Dick Irvin down they will be out to do it tomorrow night. On the other hand the Bruins will be as eager to prove before Boston Garden fans that they really are the superiors of the National Hockey League champions.

Canadiens have the league's all star defense in goaler Bill Durnan, and defensemen Ken Reardon and Butch Bouchard. They have their great punch line of Maurice Richard, Elmer Lach and Toe Blake. They have a strong supporting cast. For all their erratic start, they still are one of the potentially great teams of the National League. It will be interesting to see just what happens when they hook up on Boston ice tomorrow.

Pics Play In Ottawa

The Boston Olympics conclude their three-game Canadian trip tonight with their third game in four nights against over-the-border competition when they meet Ottawa in a Quebec Senior league contest.

Following tonight's game, coach Hago Harrington and his squad entrain for an overnight hop back to the Hub for a Sunday afternoon Eastern League tilt with the Atlantic City Sea Gulls at the Boston Garden starting at 3 o'clock.

The Pics have broken even on this current Canadian trip, losing 3-9 to the Quebec Aces Wednesday night and ther came back the following night to slug out a 9-5 win over the Valleyfield Braves.

When the Pics return to Garden ice tomorrow, there is a strong possibility that Eddie Barry will be in the lineup. The Wellesley skater has been out with a sore foot over a week.

Jim Elliott who started the season with the Boston six and was later let go, will be here with the Atlantic City team and will see action against his former mates.

STOP-GO STRIKE STILL ON

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 22 (AP)—Railroadiers continued their stop-and-go strike here today with threats of another 24-hour walkout, commencing at midnight tonight if their demands for higher wages are not met.

STRIKING CABBIES PICKET STATION

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 22 (AP)—As thousands of Yale-Harvard football game fans placed additional demands on the city's transportation facilities, striking taxi cab drivers today picketed the railroad station and the garage of the Terminal Taxi Co., operators of Yellow cabs here.

Company officials and representatives of the striking drivers were in dispute over the effectiveness of the walkout.

The company asserted that a "majority" of its 68 vehicles were operating, while the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs (AFL), representing the strikers, contended that only 28 of 135 drivers reported for work.

Matthew Ruoppolo, local union president, said the strike was called after the company refused a demand for immediate recognition of the union as collective bargaining agent for the drivers.

An election to determine the collective bargaining agent was held Nov. 12, but the State Labor Department has not yet made a decision.

STAGG AT H-Y

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 22 (AP)—Although nothing except tradition is at stake, 70,000 or more fans packed the Yale Bowl today for the 64th gridiron meeting of Yale and Harvard. Yale was favored.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, famous coach who graduated fro Yale nearly 60 years ago, was among the spectators.

Alabama Shoots For Bowl Game

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 22 (AP)—Two star passers—Harry Gilmer of Alabama and Y. A. Tittle of L. S. U.—matched their tossing arms today as two powerful Southeastern Conference teams clash for probable bowl-bid prizes.

A resurgent Alabama Crimson Tide with five straight victories behind it, was installed as a one touchdown favorite, although the Tide dropped early games to Tulane and Vanderbilt.

L. S. U. likewise has lost a couple, to Georgia and Mississippi, but bounced back last week by handing Mississippi State its first Conference defeat.

The Tide was reported eyeing a possible Sugar Bowl bid, having already received a $50,000 offer to inaugurate the Birmingham Dixie Bowl Jan. 1. Rumors were current that Alabama had been extended an invitation to the Orange Bowl.

Muehlheuser booted outside on the B. U. 49.

"The Terriers rolled to the Colgate 40 before stalling and Toner booted into the end zone for a touchback.

Muehlheuser got away a sweet punt to the BU 35 where Sarno took it and made a brilliant runback to the Colgate 34. Sarno reversed for four. Sarno took a pass from Toner for a first down on the 23. Kirkman swung wide to the 15. Toner sneaked to the 12 for another first down.

Kirkman picked up a couple. Cella spun to the 6. Anderson on an end around traveled to the one for another first down. Cella went over on a dive tackle. Dorr place-kicked the extra point as the period ended.

Score—B. U. 14, Colgate 14.

FOURTH PERIOD

Colgate could get no further than its own 33 on the kick-off. Muehleuser dropped back to boot after three frustrated running plays and lofted to Sarno who came back 12 yards to his 41. Kirkman went for four and then advanced to the Colgate 43 on a reverse.

Cella, on two dive-tackles, made 10. Toner passed in the flat to Mancino, who went to the nine before being pushed out. Kirkman drove for three and on the next play he fumbled on the four, where Piebes recovered for Colgate.

Two running plays moved seven yards but Colgate was then detected clipping and moved back to the one yard line.

Muehlheuser went back deep in his end zone to kick but the pass from center was so poor that it struck ground before reaching him. Muehlheuser was unable to find the handle and pick it up. Boston dove and recovered it in the end zone for a B. U. touchdown. Dorr's conversion was wide.

Score—B. U. 20, Colgate 14.

Colgate snapped into action following the kickoff from its own 25. McLoughlin fired to Leary for 10 to Kershaw for nine and to Marburger for another first down on the B. U. 29. McLoughlin "sneaked" for 5. Einkler intercepted a McLoughlin pass on his own 19 with three minutes to go and B. U. took over at that point.

The Terriers retained possession the rest of the way and the game ended with B. U. still the boss on its own 38.

Final: B. U. 20, Colgate 14.

Celtics Play Steam Rollers

By SAM BROGNA

The Boston Celtics, still seeking their initial home win of the current season, will board their bus at 6 o'clock tonight bound for Providence where they will play their first Basketball Association of America game with the Steam Rollers this p. m. in the Auditorium.

Although the locals have won only two of their six league games so far, they should experience little difficulty racking up their third victory over Hank Scar's Steam Rollers who have yet to break into the win column in four tilts.

Before the campaign got under way nearly two weeks ago, the Celts and Rollers played three exhibition games and Coach Russell's basketeers had little trouble slugging their rivals twice. Both wins came without big Ed Sadowski in the lineup.

Tonight's contest will conclude another busy week-end for the Celts as they play their third game in as many days. A win will give them a two-one advantage since they turned back the Philadelphia Warriors 67-57 Thursday night and last night, they were forced to bite the dust to another of 89-73 with the Baltimore Bullets, the BAA's new entry.

A surprisingly large gathering of 4134 paid witnessed the Garden clash with the Bullets and although the Celts dropped their third home tilt, the fans saw one of the fastest pro teams in the Baltimore representatives.

Although they are new in this pro circuit, the Bullets are an old organization and perennial champions of the American League which they deserted for a major league status with the BAA.

As far as the Celtics are concerned, however, Baltimore should have stayed in the other loop which it won last year.

In slugging the locals by a lopsided score, three Garden records fell by the wayside. The 162-point game total erased the old mark of 157 points; the 54 points scored in the third period bettered the previous mark of 48 and the 35 digits racked up by Baltimore in the same frame set a new record in that department. All previous records were made in the Providence game last year.

Once again, it was Big Ed Sadowski who paced the Boston attack. The league's second highest scorer came up with six field goals and five fouls for an 18-point total,

Sox Threat Says DiMag

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, his throwing arm encased in plaster, sat on the edge of his bed at the Johns Hopkins Hospital here, and commented that two pitchers and a shortstop who recently left the St. Louis Browns will put the Boston Red Sox in the running for the 1948 American League pennant.

The New York Yankee slugger had two bone chips removed from his right elbow Monday, but hopes to be out of the hospital within a week. He said there was "no pain whatsoever after the operation," and doubted that the condition of his arm would interfere next year with those long throws from centerfield.

DiMaggio said Boston got the Browns' "best player" in shortstop Vern Stephens, and called Jack Kramer and Ellis Kinder "the two best pitchers the Browns had." Acquisition of the trio will make Boston "a hot contender next year," he predicted, "a great deal more than last season."

Thieves Raid H-Y Autos

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 22 (AP)—A series of thefts from automobiles pouring into New Haven for the Yale-Harvard football game were reported today by police.

At least five out-of-town automobiles parked in the main University area or near the Yale Bowl were broken into within 24 hours by thieves, who, police said, made off with jewelry, clothing and other articles valued at thousands of dollars.

Included in the loot was a woman's star sapphire set valued at $2,000 to $3,000 reported stolen by Mary DeMoville Thompson of New York.

All-America Back To Play 5th Year

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 22 (AP)—Clyde (Smackover) Scott, All-America backfield candidate at the University of Arkansas, announced today he would return to the University next fall to complete his football eligibility with the Razorbacks.

The great running tailback, currently listed as a senior, explained that it would be necessary for him to attend summer school in order to graduate before the 1948 football season and that he would be unable to take scholastic work during the summer.

Scott has played four years of collegiate football—two at the Navy Academy and two at Arkansas.

Hurt Boxer Goes Home

Albert Sauvageau, 35-year-old boxer from Southbridge, Mass., who was injured in a bout last night at Mechanics Building and spent the night at the City Hospital, returned to his home today against doctors' wishes.

Fighting under the name of "Babe Martin," the ringster who suffered a fractured jaw and a concussion in a preliminary match on the Dempsey A. A. card, Sauvageau left the hospital though medical auhorities advised him to remain there for at least one more day.

Sauvageau's license has been recommended to be suspended by the boxing commission. He falsified his age and his general physical condition prior to the fight that lasted less thna one round before Billy Farmer kayoed the Southbridge veteran. It had been Farmer's first professional ring appearance.

PIKE REINSTATED

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22 (AP)—Alf Pike, former New York ranger forward and now coach of Winnipeg Nationals of the Manitoba senior hockey league, has been reinstated as an amateur by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Ass'n, it was announced today. Pike said he will play with the Nationals when he gets into condition.

Bob Hannegan To Buy Cards

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Star-Times reported today it was "informed by extremely reliable sources" that owner Sam Breadon is in the process of completing the sale of his St. Louis Cardinals.

Breadon refused either to confirm or deny the story, stating flatly, "I have nothing to say."

The newspaper said it had learned that the announcement of the sale was to be made next Tuesday and that Postmaster General Robert Hannegan is reported to be chief purchaser of the club.

Continuing the story says:

"There was one report that Breadon had met last night in his Sportsman's Park offices with a group representing the 'syndicate' doing the reported negotiating. Hannegan was not in this group. According to the information, the deal was closed late in the evening.

"The story that the Cardinals have been on the auction block has been recurrent for many months. Up to this time, Breadon has steadfastly denied every one of the reports. Today, his attitude was far different.

"To every question, Breadon kept repeating 'I have nothing to say.' When it was pointed out to him that on previous occasions he has been quick to issue denials, he still repeated nervously, 'I've got nothing to say.'"

PANIC IS ON

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 22—(INS)—One of the wildest pregame football demonstrations ever witnessed by the city of Berkeley was finally broken up by police and firemen early today.

Demonstrating University of California students, wildly jubilant over California's expected football victory this afternoon over Stanford, set approximately 100 bon fires in Berkeley streets, battle firemen with water hoses and even stole the helmet of the Berkeley fire chief and the cap of a police sergeant.

Five University of California students were arrested and lodged in Berkeley city jail.
